GUNBOAT'S ENTIRE CREW MANGLED BY EXPLOSION

WARSHIP BENNINGTON'S MEN ARE KILLED OR WOUNDED BY EXPLOSION OF HER BOILERS

Commander Young's Report Gives One Officer and 39 Men Dead, 80 Injured, and 21 Missing.

THE CASUALTIES INCREASING

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

COMMANDER YOUNG REPORTS 140 CASUALTIES IN WRECK

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The navy department has received a dispatch from Commander Young saying that Lieut. Perry and 39 men are dead; 80 wounded and 21 missing, and that many are expected to die before morning. He adds that there were 140 casualties altogether.

SAN DIEGO, CAL., July 21.—Lieut. N. E. Perry and 39 members of the crew of the United States gunboat Bennington were killed and 86 sailors were injured, some fatally, at 10 o'clock this forenoon, by a boiler explosion that disabled the gunboat in San Diego harbor. Twenty-one sailors are missing. There were more than 250 men aboard the warship when the accident occurred, and many men were hurled or forced to jump into the sea by the terrific explosion, which lifted part of the deck and compelled the beaching of the ship.

At Agnew hospital tonight are many injured, suffering in almost every instance from scalded bodies. Several are expected to die before the night is over.

On board the Bennington the unharmed members of the crew are working under terrible difficulties to reach the boiler room and coal bunkers, where it is believed a dozen bodies are lying wedged in the wreckage or submerged in the water which fills that part of the vessel. The death list may mount to 50.

The Bennington at the time of the accident was lying in the stream just off the commercial wharf at H street. The warship had received orders from the navy department at Washington to sail this morning for Port Harford to meet the monitor Wyoming and convoy the monitor to Mare island navy yard, San Francisco.

Steam was up and everything was in readiness for the departure of the Bennington, when the starboard forward boiler exploded with a deafening roar. The explosion was terrific. People standing on shore saw a huge cloud of steam rise above the Bennington. Columns of water were forced high into the air. A dozen or 15 men were blown overboard by the force of the terrific explosion.

Bodies Hurled High in Air.

Capt. Wentworth, who was looking at the Bennington when the disaster occurred, says he saw human bodies hurled over 100 feet upward. The air was clouded with smoke, which enveloped the ship. When the haze cleared away, only a few men could be seen on the decks, while a number were floundering in the water. A boat was lowered from the vessel's side and most of the men in the water were picked up and taken on board.

On board the Bennington were presented terrible scenes. The force of the explosion had torn a great hole in the starboard side of the ship and the vessel was already commencing to list. A section of the upper deck was carried away from stem to stern. Blood and wreckage was distributed over the entire ship, the after cabin and that part of the ship adjacent to the exploded boiler resembling a charnel house. The shock of the explosion penetrated every action of the ship, blood and ashes being found as far as the stem of the captain's cabin.

The ferryboat Ramon, which was crossing the bay at the time of the accident, changed its course and hurried to the aid of the stricken warship. The government launch, General De Russey, and a large number of other launches and water craft which were near the scene at the time, also rushed to the assistance of the Bennington.

Horrible Sight Meets Rescuers.

By the time the Ramona reached the Bennington many of the sailors of the Bennington who had jumped into the bay to escape the scalding steam had been rescued by small craft. The removal of the wounded from the ship was conducted in perfect order. The crews of the De Russey and other boats aided in picking up the wounded sailors and transferring them to shore.

A most horrible sight met those who approached. In the water men with blackened faces were struggling, handicapped by injuries; others on deck were covered with blood and grime, some dead, some wounded frightfully, others working to rescue comrades who were yet below. The smaller boats turned their attention to those in the water, taking them to the wharves as fast as a few had been taken aboard the small craft. At the wharves preparations were speedily made for taking care of the injured in what by this time was seen to be a disaster of awful proportions.

Ambulances were telephoned for, every express wagon and driver who could be reached by telephone was summoned, physicians were notified and hospitals informed. Within half an hour from the time of the explosion carriages, buggies, automobiles and street cars were bearing burdens of victims toward the hospitals. The sight which met the eyes of hundreds along the streets was one never to be forgotten.

Wagon Loads of Wounded.

Wagons with a dozen wounded men were not rare. One had eight sitting or reeling against the sides, holding in their laps the heads of comrades near to death, all of them with faces black with smoke

REAR ADMIRAL GOODRICH MAY MAKE INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Rear Admiral Goodrich, commanding the Pacific fleet, is sailing from the north for Puget sound, and if he arrives in time it will be left to him to conduct an investigation of the accident, otherwise the department will pursue the usual course. The next step after an investigation usually is a court of inquiry, if an investigation suggests the necessity for it, and the court recommends what further action should be taken if any.

VILLAGERS ARE SLAIN BY BULGARIAN BAND

Patriarchs Murdered Indiscriminately at Baltina and Grodeshuitza. Victims Are Unknown.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

SALONICA, EUROPEAN TURKEY, July 21.—A report received here says that a large Bulgarian band attacked the Patriarchist villages of Baltina, and Gradeshuitza, in the Morinovo district, last night, murdering the entire population indiscriminately, and that the carnage did not end until this morning. The number of victims is not known.

Troops proceeded to another village in the district yesterday, and, finding that the population had fled, burned the village, the inhabitants of which were suspected of having murdered 30 Turks near Doiran.

WANTS HIS CALL RETURNED.

American Minister to Switzerland Objects to Being Snubbed by French Ambassador.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(Special.)—Ambassador McCormick at Paris has been instructed to take up with the French government the complaint of Brutus J. Clay, the new American minister to Switzerland, that the French ambassador at Berne did not return his call.

Mr. McCormick will take the matter up informally at first, hoping it is a misapprehension due to the fact that the French ambassador is the only one of his rank at Berne. Germany and Italy maintain only legations there.

DUKE CASE IN COURT AGAIN.

Suit for Separation Grows Out of Tobacco King's Sensational Marriage Last Spring.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special.)—Alice Webb-Duke, who was married last spring to Brodie L. Duke, of the millionaire tobacco family of Dukes, has brought suit against him for separation. She alleges that he has deserted her.

She appeared before Justice Gigrich in the supreme court today with an application for $5,000 counsel fees and $200 a week alimony pending the trial of the suit. Mr. Duke, through counsel, resisted the application and charged Mrs. Duke with misconduct with one Charles S. Berry, who was in Duke's employ as a detective.

GOVERNMENT NOTIFIES VICTIMS' RELATIVES

Among the Bennington's Crew Was An Assignment of 27 Newly Enlisted Men.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Staggered and saddened by the news of the most serious warship accident since the destruction of the Maine, the navy department is notifying mothers, fathers, wives, brothers and sisters of the victims throughout the United States and in foreign climes of the disaster.

The first news came to the department in a press dispatch, followed by a brief telegram from Commander Young:

"Boilers exploded; nearly every one killed or injured."

Later Secretary Darling, surrounded by a half dozen officers in the bureau of navigation, received a fuller account of the disaster from Commander Young.

At 10:15 followed a list of casualties which was incomplete and has since been revised by the bureau of navigation.

Secretary Darling and Capt. William A. Potter, acting chief of the bureau of navigation, promptly sent to the commandant of the navy yard at Mare Island to send Capt. Drake and such medical officers as were available to San Diego as quickly as possible. A telegram was sent to the president at Oyster Bay conveying to him the news of the calamity.

Lieut. Commander H. B. Wilson of the bureau of navigation, who has charge of the assignment of enlisted men, immediately set about to prepare a list of the ship's crew for the public. An order had recently been sent to the Mare Island yard to have a detail of 27 enlisted men sent from that station to the Bennington, and it was not known at the department whether they had gone to the ship. A telegram of inquiry was sent to the commandant at Mare Island, when a reply came stating that the detail had left San Francisco on the 17th, arriving at San Diego on the 18th. It was hoped at the department that this detachment had not joined the crew, but in that they were disappointed, for they had gone aboard.

GOVERNMENT IS HOSTILE.

Canada Intimates She Will Not Extend Bounty Law to Steel Corporation's Proposed Plant.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special.)—The hostile attitude of the Canadian government toward the United States Steel Corporation seems to preclude any possibility of the erection of a $10,000,000 steel plant in Canada, as originally contemplated. It is likely that if the corporation establishes a footing there it will have to be through the purchase of a going plant.

Information has been conveyed to the Steel Corporation, through unofficial sources, that the Canadian government will not allow the Steel Corporation to share in the Canadian bounty on steel. Should the corporation decide to establish a new plant in the dominion, it is pretty clearly intimated the government would change the bounty laws so as to restrict its application to existing steel companies.

A PATRIOTIC SACRIFICE.

So Acting Secretary of the Navy Darling Characterizes Men Who Lost Lives on Bennington.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Acting Secretary of the Navy Charles H. Darling tonight, after the receipt of the telegrams from Commander Young giving details of the disaster to the Bennington, said:

"The accident is the most distressing that has befallen an American naval vessel since the blowing up of the Maine. The sacrifice of these lives was as truly made upon the altar of their country as if made in battle. These men died at their posts, and must always be honored and mourned by patriotic people."

Coal Options Have Expired.

UNIONTOWN, PA., July 21.—(Special.)—Within the last 10 days options on 15,000 acres of coal in Greene county have expired, but the coal was not taken up and deals which would have aggregated $2,250,000 were not made. The first of the deals fell through when the options on the Dunkard creek coal field of 13,000 acres were allowed to expire.

HEARS THE EXPLOSION WHILE IN A GROCERY

Commander of Ill-Fated Gunboat and His Surgeon Commented on Noise.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SAN DIEGO, CAL., July 21.—Early this morning Commander Lucien Young issued orders for an early departure, and about 9:30 went ashore with Surgeon Peck to send some telegrams and pass on a number of bills for medical and other supplies that had been furnished the Bennington while in this port.

They were on the street and about to enter Hamilton's grocery when they were startled by a terrible explosion in the direction of the harbor. They commented upon it indifferently and passed into the store, where they remained 10 or 15 minutes. Coming out they caught the rumor that the Bennington had blown up, and calling the harbormaster on the telephone learned that such was the case.

Lieut. Victor Blue, the executive officer who distinguished himself for unusual gallantry at Santiago left San Diego yesterday morning for the hospital at Mare Island navy yard, San Francisco, where he expects to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

BOMB ALMOST HITS SULTAN

Several of His Suite Are Killed, but He Escapes.

ARRESTS ARE MADE

RULER GOING TO PRAYERS

BRUSSELS, July 21.—A telegram to the "Petit Bleu" from Constantinople says:

"During the selamlik here today a bomb was exploded in the court yard of the mosque, close to the sultan. His majesty was not injured but several members of his suite were killed or injured. Several arrests have been made."

COLOGNE, July 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople to the Koelnischezeitung says:

"As the sultan was proceeding to the midday prayers a bomb was thrown at his majesty, but he escaped unharmed."

LONDON, July 21.—The Turkish censorship is evidently suppressing the news regarding the attempt on the life of the sultan, for no further press dispatches from Constantinople have reached London. A dispatch received by the Turkish embassy says:

"As the sultan was coming from the Mosque at the conclusion of the ceremony of the selamlik a bomb burst in the courtyard of the Mosque. Divine providence miraculously preserved his majesty, who displayed his usual self-possession and courage. Himself driving the phaeton, his majesty returned to the palace, graciously bowing as if nothing had happened. A few persons were killed or injured."

BURNS TO DEATH IN AUTOMOBILE

Machine Plunges Into Ditch and Gasoline Tank Explodes, Injuring Five Others.

ALL WERE BRUISED AND CUT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, July 21.—Miss Olive Johnson of Lima, O., was crushed and burned to death and five other persons were severely burned and bruised tonight when a large automobile plunged into a ditch near Broad Ripple, exploding the gasoline storage tank. C. O. Dale of Indianapolis, who was driving the machine, was seriously burned. The others who were injured are: Clara Brennan, Muncie, Ind.; Ethel Jones, Shelbyville, Ind.; Inez Brennan and Hazel Orr of Indianapolis.

The party was speeding along the river road when the machine struck a rut, overturning in a ditch and throwing the occupants underneath. From the tail light the gasoline tank was ignited and two explosions followed, throwing burning fluid over the young people pinioned beneath the machine.

Before William P. Klunke, attracted by the explosion, could reach the wreck, Olive Johnson had been burned to death. Setting Dale, Klunke dragged him from the burning car and extinguished the flames. The other young women sustained bruises and cuts and were slightly burned.

Hero Loses His Life.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 21.—(Special.)—David O'Hara, aged 24, in saving the life of Mike Stukovitch, was killed at Lowellville tonight. Stukovitch was seriously injured. O'Hara was married and leaves a wife.

THREE GREAT FIGURES IN BRITISH CRISIS

Arthur J. Balfour.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman. John E. Redmond.

UNIONIST NEWSPAPERS PROFESS THEIR DELIGHT

See Disaster Ahead for Opponents of Government in Trying to Form a Ministry.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, July 21.—Premier Balfour's audience with King Edward yesterday lated only 10 minutes, and it is supposed that the intimated his decision to his majesty.

The Unionist newspapers this morning, while professing to be delighted over the prospect of "Leaderless Liberals," lacking a policy or a program, being forced to form a ministry bound hand and foot to John Redmond and his Nationalist following, who engineered the defeat of the government, contend that the delicate situation of foreign affairs dictates that Lord Lansdowne shall remain in control of the foreign office and forbids the risking of any change in the government.

The forthcoming peace conference in the United States, the Anglo-Japanese alliance, the international conference over Moroccan reforms, the Anglo-French entente and South African affairs, are all represented as matters too serious to be entrusted to a Liberal or a Radical ministry.

ENGLISH PARLIAMENT STILL HOLDS TOGETHER

Premier Balfour May Refuse to Resign Until the Session Ends in October—Statement May Be Made Monday.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, July 21.—It is understood that Premier Balfour has decided to remain in office until the end of the session and to dissolve parliament in October. No authoritative statement, however, will be made until Monday, and in the interval this decision may be modified. The house of commons sat barely half an hour today, and then adjourned until Monday to await the government's decision regarding its future course of action in view of the defeat of the minister last night on John Redmond's motion to reduce the vote for the Irish land commission.

The house was packed in every part. Much excitement was visible on all sides and there was a disposition to view the defeat of the government as more serious than it was generally regarded in the early hours this morning. Immediately after the house had assembled Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, moved its adjournment, declaring that it would be unseemly, under the circumstances, to proceed with business while the government was considering its position. Premier Balfour, however, declined to adjourn the house until the bill dealing with the differences of the Scottish United Free church and the Free church had been passed. This was quickly accomplished, the house rose and the excited members swarmed into the lobbies eagerly discussing the probable decision of the cabinet which had been summoned to meet this afternoon. The view that the government will resign, however, is not held in circles generally well informed of the government's intentions, and it is reiterated that the resignation of the Balfour ministry is not likely in view of the almost practical certainty that the government will be sustained by its formal majority on the vital division July 24, to which the opposition formally challenged the ministry.

The Unionist members of the house of commons are busily signing a memorial to the premier urging either the reshuffling of the government or the dissolution of parliament. In the Unionist circles, like the Carlton club, it is confidently asserted that Mr. Balfour will stand or fall according to the outcome of Monday's motion of censure.

In the house of lords Earl Spencer, the Liberal leader, asked Foreign Secretary Lansdowne if he had any statement to make regarding the government's attitude, but Lord Lansdowne refused to anticipate Mr. Balfour's statement of Monday next.

The duke of Devonshire (Liberal-Unionist) postponed a motion which he intended to present condemning colonial preferences, saying that on Monday the government would either be in a state of complete disruption or reconstructed.

The lord chancellor, Earl Halsbury, protested against the only two signatures procured by the duke of Devonshire.

NAVY DEPARTMENT APPALLED BY DISASTER

BOILERS KNOWN TO BE FAULTY

Report Made to the Navy Department Last March Told of Their Poor Condition.

SHIP WAS GOING TO PANAMA

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The Bennington was a three-masted schooner, built by N. F. Palmer & Co., of Chester, Pa. Her construction was authorized by congress. She was launched June 3, 1890, and was commissioned June 20, 1891. Her complement was 16 officers and 181 men.

The Bennington had four cylindrical straightway boilers, commonly called locomotive gunboat boilers. Each boiler was 17 feet and 9 inches long and 9 feet and 9 inches in diameter. They were originally designed to carry 160 pounds of steam, but the last log received at the department shows that the safety valves were set for 145 pounds, and that she carried from 135 to 140 pounds of steam in cruising. The boilers were 15 years old, according to records in the department, but were retubed in 1903-1904.

The admiral of the Pacific fleet in October, 1904, reported to the navy department that the boilers were in need of repairs, but that the repairs were not urgent. A report from the engineer officer of the ship received at the department about the same time was that the boilers generally were in poor condition but that the internal conditions of the boilers were good. A detailed report on the condition of the boilers was received by the department last March. In May last the Bennington was sent to the Mare Island yard when temporary repairs were made on her boilers to put her in cruising condition. It is stated at the bureau of steam engineering that there has been nothing in the reports coming to the department to show that the boilers were in an unsafe condition.

As soon as the news of the explosion reached the steam engineering bureau all the records and reports relating to the Bennington were reviewed by Admiral Rae, chief of the bureau, and later he called upon Acting Secretary Darling, when he advised him fully of all the facts pertaining to the boilers of the ill-fated ship.

The Bennington left San Francisco about three months ago and went to Honolulu as station ship at that port. On July 7 she sailed from the Hawaiian port and went to San Diego, arriving there last Wednesday. When she sailed from Honolulu she was under orders to go to San Diego and there fill her bunkers with coal, then proceed to Panama, calling at numerous ports along the Central American coast. She was to take the place of the monitor Wyoming as station ship there.

MESSAGES OF SORROW WIRED TO ALL FRIENDS

Acting Secretary Darling Sends Telegrams of Condolence to Next of Kin.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Not since the ill-fated battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor has the department been obliged to record a disaster to one of the American men-of-war so fearful as that of today. Engineer officers do not recall when a boiler has exploded aboard a warship of the United States. Mishaps have occurred in the boiler room, but with slight loss of life or injuries, but they were unprepared to hear of an explosion of such magnitude. A steam pipe on the Concord, which has boilers identical with those of the Bennington, burst at one time, killing two men.

Acting Secretary Darling and officers of the bureau of navigation were at the department tonight awaiting the details which Commander Young sent the department. Upon the receipt of the message giving the list of killed and injured Mr. Darling at once had a telegram sent to the next of kin of the dead as follows:

"Department regrets to report that——was killed this morning by bursting of a boiler on the Bennington. You have the sincere sympathy of the department in your loss."

Other dispatches were sent to the next of kin of those wounded, substituting the word "wounded" for killed.

It was learned at the headquarters of the marine corps that no marines were aboard the Bennington. Gen. Elliott, commandant of the corps, hurried over to the navy department upon learning of the explosion and eagerly sought the details.

and grime, and many clothed in nothing but trousers. Some of those whose bodies were bare, not injured in vital parts, but suffering the agonies of torn flesh, sat up with lacerated bodies exposed to the wind. One, whose arm was twisted and whose face and breast were covered with blood, looked at his own hanging flesh and dropping blood and muttered only, "My God! My God!"

The bodies of many of the men taken frm the wrecked interior of the ship were mutilated almost beyond recognition. The faces of many were covered with blood and ashes. Some bodies may never be identified.

Temporary quarters ashore were arranged for the wounded, and 60 citizens volunteered and hurried in launches to the relief of those on the ship. Some of the volunteers were unable to stand the sickening sight which met their gaze on the Bennington, from which steam continued to pour in great clouds. Everywhere was blood and in all directions were bodies. The after cabin was smeared with blood and the walls, ceiling and floor splotched with red. In the depth below, from which heat and steam rolled in volumes too great to face, came the groans and wails of the dying and the shrieks of the wounded.

For a long time the hot steam prevented access to the space between decks where most of the dead bodies lay, and it was not until late in the afternoon that the last were removed from the boiler rooms. Several bodies were so tightly wedged in by a bulkhead that the woodwork had to be hewed away to free them.

At the time of the accident Commander Lucien Young and Surgeon F. E. Peck were on shore. The two officers, as soon as they learned of the disaster, hurried to the water front. Commander Young, as soon as he reached the ship, gave orders that the air-tight compartments be closed to prevent the listing ship from sinking and that the magazines be flooded to avert further explosions. He then beached the ship at high tide.

When the explosion occurred the engineer was inspecting the boilers. He was not seriously injured. Officers and men who were able to assist in the rescue acted in a brave and collected manner. Pumps were manned to keep the water from the upper compartments, the magazine was flooded and men fought their way through the steam into the darkened hold. Many slightly injured sailors remained in the ship and assisted in rescuing the more severely injured.

The ship's inner works are a tangled mass of machinery and the vessel probably will have to be dismantled to repair the injuries, if, indeed, the warship is not a total loss.

The boiler which exploded, it is said, was regarded as unsafe. Commander Young stated that during a recent return from Honolulu the steam pressure was kept reduced in that particular one.

Lieut. Yates, executive officer in charge of the Bennington at the time of the disaster, was in the aft cabin. He rushed out, to be met by a blinding, scalding cloud of steam as it swept the vessel. Speaking of the occurrence he said:

"I must have remained seated in my chair several seconds after it occurred, and did not know what had happened. I then rushed out and the steam, even at the extreme after part of the ship, was so dense that I could not get a breath of air until I ascended the rail.

"As I ran forward I passed one of our boys crawling along. There was no time to attend to individual cases, as there were so many. About 30 of the boys were on the foredeck, all severely wounded. I called for men to man the boats, and only a dozen men, including officers, responded at that moment. All of the rest were injured, blinded, or had been driven over the side by the scalding steam."

The officers of the gunboat Bennington are: Commander Lucien Young, Lieut. A. F. Yates, Ensigns C. P. Wade and N. K. Perry, Midshipmen Leo Sahn and L. H. Lacy, Past Assistant Surgeon A. E. Peck, Paymaster C. Morris, Jr., Pay Clerk H. O. Matius.

SKETCHES OF THE BOATS' OFFICERS

Men Who Commanded the Ill-Fated Gunboat and Where They Hailed From.

CAPT. YOUNG, HERO OF HURON

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Following are sketches of officers of the Bennington, several of whom, however, escaped injury:

Commander Lucien Young, a Kentuckian, who was ashore at the time of the explosion, had been in command of the Bennington since November 14, 1904. He was commandant of the naval station at Havana several years ago and had been advanced in numbers for extraordinary heroism when the U. S. S. Huron was wrecked, and for conspicuous conduct in the Spanish war.

Lieut. Victor Blue, who was in a hospital ashore at the time, joined the Bennington August, 1904, serving as navigator and executive officer. He is a native of North Carolina and was appointed from South Carolina.

Lieut. Alexander F. H. Yates was born in Maine, June 11, 1879. He was appointed a naval cadet May 20, 1895, joined the Bennington on March 5, 1905, as watch and division officer and was assigned to duty as navigator on May 13, 1905. His mother, Mrs. A. H. Yates, lives at Waterville, Me.

Ensign Charles T. Wade was born in New Jersey September 25, 1879; appointed a naval cadet September 5, 1896. He was promoted to ensign July 1, 1902, was due for promotion to lieutenant July 1, 1905, but not yet examined. He joined the Bennington December 25, 1903, was assigned to engineering duty October 21, 1904. His next of kin is Charles M. Wade, father, Hackettstown, N. J.

Ensign Newman K. Perry, Jr., was born in South Carolina November 26, 1880, and was appointed a naval cadet from the fourth district of South Carolina on September 9, 1897. He was promoted to ensign June 7, 1905. He joined the Bennington as a watch and division officer on March 9, 1903. His wife, Mrs. Newman K. Perry, lives at Stockbridge, Mass.

Ensign Leo Sahm was born in Iowa September 26, 1880. He was appointed a naval cadet from Iowa in September, 1899, and was promoted to be ensign February 2, 1905, and joined the Bennington March 2, 1903. His father, P. Sahm, lives at 2045 Conler avenue, Dubuque, Iowa.

Ensign Lindsay H. Lacy was born in Texas March 11, 1882, and appointed a naval cadet from Texas in September, 1898; promoted to be ensign February 3, 1903, and joined the Bennington March 2, 1903. His father is W. M. Lacy, at Paestine, Texas.

Paymaster Charles Morris, Jr., was born in Rhode Island August 15, 1874, and was appointed as assistant paymaster from Massachusetts May 20, 1898. He was promoted to past assistant paymaster in 1900 and paymaster in March, 1903. He joined the Bennington March 8, 1903. His next of kin is Col. Charles Morris, United States army, stationed at San Francisco.

Passed Assistant Surgeon Allen E. Peck, one of those who escaped by being ashore, is a Californian, who joined the Bennington last April.

"CAPT. YOUNG AND I SAFE."

Message from a Steward on the Gunboat Bennington to His Brother in Pittsburgh.

San Diego, Cal., July 21, 1905.

James H. Ferguson, Hotel Anderson, Pittsburgh.

Bennington boilers exploded today. Capt. Young and I safe. JOHN.

This telegram was received last night by J. H. Ferguson, a bell-boy at the Anderson hotel, from his brother, John William Ferguson, one of the cabin stewards on the gunboat Bennington. Steward Ferguson is aged 40 and has been in the navy for over ten years. He has served on other United States war vessels. He was born in Washington, D. C., where the Ferguson family, who are colored, live. The brothers have not met for several years.

Throws Dishes at His Wife.

Mrs. John Carlisle of 1014 Rebecca street, Allegheny, called at the North Side Central station last night bleeding from an ugly gash in her forehead which was inflicted, she said, by her husband. She was taken to the Allegheny General hospital. According to her story her husband returned home late yesterday evening and while she was preparing supper threw a heavy plate, striking her on the head.

IN BAYONET'S GLEAM TWO SOULS ARE JOINED

ERIE, PA., July 21.—"The age of chivalry is not past. The romance of love and the romance of arms still go hand in hand, just as they did in the days of Bayard and Guiscard. My advice to all young men is to go and get married."

So said Gen. Willis J. Hulings of the Sixteenth regiment to the members of Company C of Bradford tonight. A few minutes before, under the flickering torch of regimental headquarters, Private James Stewart and Miss Fannie Davis, both of Bradford, were united in marriage by Capt. Frank M. Silsby, chaplain of the regiment.

The wedding will make Camp Jones memorable in the hearts of the young soldiers who stood there tonight and listened to the words of the chaplain. It was a military wedding and right proud of the ceremony were the officers and comrades of the young soldier, who stole a bride away from camp. The Sixteenth regiment band played a stirring march and showers of rice rained upon the happy couple as they rode over the guard line in an automobile, while the bugles of the brigade sounded the roll call of the troops.

Several days ago Miss Davis intimated that she desired a military wedding. She arrived in camp yesterday afternoon from Westfield, New York, and was greeted with a cheer by the boys who at that very moment were pressing their blue uniforms and preparing for the evening ceremony.

After guard mount last night the bride stepped out in a pretty gown of white organdie silk. Beside her walked Mrs. David Stewart of Bradford, matron of honor. A bouquet of flowers gathered from the beach where Commodore Perry launched his flagship, the Niagara, adorned the table in the headquarters tent. The regimental band struck up the wedding march from "Lohengrin." Around the regimental street stood the enlisted men of the Sixteenth with uncovered heads, while Gen. Hulings, Mrs. Hulings, Miss Florence Hulings, Miss Emma Hulings, Mrs. R. B. Gamble, Mrs. Spencer, Miss Hyde, Mrs. E. Lowry Humes and other ladies of the regiment, occupied the platform in headquarters.

The soldiers of Company C in their blue uniforms escorted the bridegroom to the tent, with Capt. Joseph F. Robinson and Lieuts. Alonzo Ingram and Lewis Newell, officers of the company. Gen. Hulings gave the bride away. The ceremony was brief. A fervent prayer by Chaplain Silsby followed. The general kissed the bride. Company C opened ranks, and, amid a shower of rice, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart walked to an automobile which was waiting to take them on their honeymoon journey.

While the automobile was spinning away and the inspiring music of the band still floated far away on the night air, the Bradford boys refused to return to quarters until Gen. Hulings consented to comply to their demands for a speech. The officer who had led many of the boys against the Spaniards at Coamo walked out beneath the torch and reminded his soldiers that the age of chivalry was not past.

CAPTAIN YOUNG SENDS MESSAGE OF DISASTER

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The navy department tonight received the following telegram from Commander Young of the Bennington:

"At 10:15 this morning, while making preparations for getting under way, with all hands at their stations, the top of the lower furnace of boiler B exploded, forcing the boiler astern in contact with boiler A, which was also forced astern and exploded. Vessel listed considerably to starboard, commenced to settle immediately. Flooded magazines and with the assistance of tug I beached her on east bank between two wharves, at high tide.

"Every assistance has been given by the people here, and all doctors in the city volunteered services. The wounded are in the different hospitals and have every attention. Capt. Scott kindly offered San Diego barracks and will quarter men there. Seven bodies penned behind boilers unable to identify. Cutting away bulkhead over them. Vessel almost a total wreck and will need assistance. As soon as further particulars can be obtained will wire. Request department to notify nearest relatives."

RAIL IS A BAD SEAT.

Two Men Are Seriously Hurt While Riding on Crowded Car.

John Whalen, aged 22, of Fifth avenue, McKeesport, and John Newl of Bryn Mawr, were seriously injured while riding in a street car in the Tenth ward, McKeesport, at 9 o'clock last night. Owing to the crowded condition of the car the two were sitting on the inside rail. A car passing in the opposite direction knocked them off between the cars.

BATTERY B MAKES A GREAT RECORD

Uses Shot Intended for Spaniards in Porto Rico in Riddling Target on Lake Erie.

CAMP BREAKING NOW ON

CAMP JONES, ERIE, PA., July 21.—Battery B today established a record among militia artillery organizations of the country. In 20 shots, at a range slightly exceeding 1,500 yards, the gunners of the command riddled a tarket placed on Lake Erie.

The first shot fired by Sergt. Rothar and Corporal Ormsby, in Lieut. C. T. Bundy's platoon, passed directly over the target and enabled the gunners to accurately locate the range. There was a pause while Capt. William T. Rees made some computations and then the shores of the lake at Four Mile Creek park reechoed with the roar of the big guns. It sounded as if a hostile fleet was being attacked. Within a few minutes the 5x5-foot sail was riddled by solid shot and fragments of shell. Regular army officers who witnessed the shooting declared they had never seen better work. All the more marvelous when it is remembered that the battery is not provided with range finders.

Shot Meant for Spaniards.

The guns which made such a fine record today were the ones trained on the Spaniards at Porto Rico, when Gen. Brooke received the news that the peace protocol had been signed. And the plotted ammunition fired today was intended originally to kill King Alfonso's soldiers. Capt. Rees in those days was a sergeant and Lieut. C. C. Williams was a "high private," and there are other members of the battery who hit the tarket today who were with the boys in the arduous campaign of '98. These are the officers who had charge of the shoot. First platoon—Lieut. C. T. Bundy, first section, Sergt. Rothar and Corporal Ormsby; second section, Sergt. Simms and Corporal John Young. Second platoon—Lieut C. C. Williams, third section, Sergt Richeimer and Corporal Long; fourth section, Sergt. Clements and Corporal Scott.

George J. Hare, Jr., the newspaper photographer who was ridden down in the field during the governor's review, was removed tonight to his home in Buffalo.

Feeling Over Accident.

When Mr. Hare, with his camera was knocked over by the rider, it evidently served as great sport for some of the spectators and the man who rode him down left the injured man in the field without calling for assistance. Maj. C. C. Wiley, surgeon of the Eighteenth regiment, was the only officer among the eye witnesses who seemed to realize the seriousness of the accident. The accident has caused a long debate at headquarters as to the status of newspaper men on the parade ground. Gen. Wiley says he could not distinguish the victim from other camera "fiends" who lined the field, although the young man had spent the entire morning at headquarters. Mr. Hare says the rider deliberately rode him down and made escape impossible.

Gov. Pennypacker finished his inspection today, replaced his alapaca coat with a Prince Albert, took the knot out of his watch chain and started back to Harrisburg. His leaving marked the close of an exceedingly strenuous day. He was awake at reveille, watched the inspection of the infantry and during the afternoon took a ride on the lake in a naptha launch which was fitted up by the inmates of the soldiers' and sailors' home for Gov. Pennypacker's especial benefit. The governor didn't get seasick while he was toasted upon the white caps of the lake, and even suggested that he would like to try his hand at fishing.

Visited Historic Spot.

"Over there is Misery Bay," said an old soldier.

"Why is it called Misery bay?" asked the governor.

"Well, Commodore Perry's flagship, the Niagara, lies buried under the waves over there," replied one of the local guides.

"I want to go there right away," remarked the governor, and he went.

Maj.-Gen. Charles Miller was overcome by the heat while inspecting the Fourteenth regiment. He was carried to the Eighteenth regiment hospital and attended by Major C. C. Wiley and a few minutes the general was able to return to his train.

Before leaving Gov. Pennypacker declared that he had been agreeably surprised by the appearance of the Second brigade.

"The Fourteenth preserves splendid alignment," he said, "and it evidently is well officered. Battery B, I should like to see it in active service if an unhappy condition of national affairs should offer the opportunity. The Eighteenth shows improvement and Troop F has picked up wonderfully since the last encampment. I am proud of all our Western Pennsylvania organizations. They will be better still with new armories."

The Fifth and Tenth regiments broke camp tonight and tomorrow Camp Jones will pass into history. Tonight largely has been given over to merry-making. The principal hop of the encampment was given tonight by Mrs. A. J. Henderson, one of the fair patronesses of the Eighteenth. The dance was well attended and officers in blue and military belles made an exceedingly pretty picture upon the ballroom floor.

Battery B and the Fourteenth regiment will reach Pittsburgh tomorrow night and the Eighteenth at an early hour Sunday morning.

TWENTY-FIRST WARD PEOPLE GET PROMISES

Director Bigelow and the Street Car Company Agree to Furnish Better Facilities.

Promises from Director Bigelow and the Pittsburgh Railways Company were received yesterday by the committee appointed at a mass meeting of Lincoln avenue residents, Twenty-first ward, Thursday night to secure better fire protection and better street car facilities. The committee called upon Director Bigelow, who promised to put the approaches to the Larimer avenue bridge in better condition for vehicles and fire engines.

The director said the Chaucer street work would be pushed to permit the Homewood fire company to use the street going to the Lincoln avenue district. He said the Lincoln avenue bridge would be completed within two years, the time allowed the contractors, and that he would have a shelter house erected at the city end of the Lincoln avenue bridge to protect people waiting for street cars. Mr. Bigelow promised to use his influence with Director Moore to have a temporary fire company established east of the bridge.

Assistant Superintendent P. J. Callahan of the street car company promised to run three cars from the eastern end of the bridge to Lincoln park from 5 to 9 a. m. and from 3 to 9 p. m. Conductors will be given instructions to wait for people seen approaching the bridge or the end of the line east of the bridge, and the company promises to erect a temporary shelter house at the eastern end of the bridge.

MERCANTILE TRUST IS REPORTED TO BE SOUND

Big Loan of Equitable's Banking Concern to President Alexander Has Been Repaid.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 21.—State Bank Examiner Judson finished his examination of the Mercantile Trust Company this afternoon and reported that it was in first rate condition and entirely acceptable to the department.

An official of the Mercantile Trust Company today said that the loan for six hundred thousand and odd dollars made by the company to Former President Alexander and Thomas D. Jordan of the Equitable society, has been liquidated. He said the loan was paid by Mr. Jordan acting for himself and Mr. Alexander as trustees.

The regular Friday meeting of the executive committee of the Equitable society was held today. Chairman Morton had been in conference earlier with Attorney Paul D. Cravath and it is believed that the Westinghouse plan of stock transfer was discussed by the executive committee. Chairman Morton declined to say anything on this point.

Crime Increases, Executions Decrease.

Statistics which are being compiled by H. J. Zimmerman, a special agent for the United States census bureau, with offices in the government building, this city, show that in recent years there has been a big decrease in executions and an increase in murders. In 1895 for every 17 murders there was one execution, while in 1904 there was one execution for every 72 murders. There have been 121,201 murders and homicides in the United States since 1885, also only 1,756 executions. In 1895 the number of murders was 1,808 and the number of executions 106, while in 1904 the number of murders was 5,482 and the number of executions 116.

INSISTS UPON RECOGNITION

China's Note to the Powers on the Peace Conference Is Most Emphatic.

MR. ROOT MEETS PRESIDENT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 21.—Secretary Root is holding an important conference with President Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill. Not long after the secretary's arrival on the Hill the text of the note received from the Chinese government was given out at the executive office, which reads as follows:

"Having viewed with profound regret the unfortunate interruption of peaceful relations between Japan and Russia the imperial government now learns with sincere gratification that negotiations are about to commence for the restoration of peace and amenity. But in the present conflict Chinese territory has been made the theater of military operations. Therefore, it is hereby expressly declared that no provisions affecting China, without the approval of China being previously obtained, which the treaty of peace may contain, will be recognized as valid. The diplomatic representatives of China in Japan and Russia have been instructed by telegraph to communicate this declaration to the governments of Japan and Russia respectively."

The note has been sent to all the neutral powers.

The situation in the far east was necessarily the chief subject discussed by the president and Mr. Root. China's remarkable insistence in asserting her rights first at Tokyo and St. Petersburg, and now in all the great capitals, is believed to have something more behind it than new vigor in her diplomatic methods. It is possible that Japan wishes to strengthen the Chinese position in Manchuria before she agrees to turn over the province to China in the treaty of peace, which will be drawn up at Portsmouth, N. H.

After Mr. Root had been with the president for several hours it was announced no statement would be issued concerning the Chinese note, for the present. It is possible that, owing to the delicate position in which President Roosevelt is placed as the intermediary for peace, no answer will be given to the Chinese note.

The note refers wholly to China's claim of sovereignty in Manchuria. The administration's protection of the integrity of China under the policy inaugurated by Mr. Hay, which will unquestionably be upheld by Mr. Root, does not extend beyond the open door for trade.

A Chinese question of far greater importance to America—the trade boycott started in some Chinese ports against American goods in retaliation for the exclusion act—was discussed at length by the president and the new secretary of state. It is expected some definite move to protect American trade in China will result from the conference. Mr. Root will spend the night at Sagamore Hill and may prolong his visit until tomorrow afternoon.

MAJOR STEWART EXPLAINS.

Tells Why Bills Against Aldermen Barton and Levy Were Ignored by Grand Jury.

Maj. Robert E. Stewart, district attorney, yesterday explained how it came about that the charges of extortion against ex-Alderman B. C. Barton and Alderman Isaac Levy were ignored by a grand jury. Veiled charges have been made that the bills were ignored because of political influence which the accused men are alleged to possess.

Maj. Stewart said he had given orders that the cases were not to be brought before the grand jury until all the witnesses could be present, as he wanted the case to be as strong as possible. In the meantime Constable Thomas A. Joyce of Alderman Toole's office, to whom the subpoenas for witnesses were given, could not find the witnesses, and so reported. Toward the end of the grand jury's term a lot of cases, some old and of minor importance, were brought in and the grand jury acted promptly on them to clear the records. It happened that among these cases were those against Barton and Levy, but as the title lines contained the names of co-defendants and not the names of the aldermen and the co-defendant names were not familiar to the grand jury or the assistant district attorney, the grand jury, in a routine way, ignored the bills. The cases will be presented to the next grand jury.

An Honest Answer.

A workingman asked a successful Pittsburgh financier how he might invest his savings to best advantage.

The answer came without hesitation:

"Put it in a strong savings bank where it will earn 4 per cent."

"But how am I to know when a savings bank is safe?"

"They are all safe," replied the financier, "the laws make them so. You can determine the relative strength by comparing the capital and surplus with the deposits. The greater the capital and surplus in proportion to deposits, the stronger the bank."

The workingman made his comparison and the Peoples Savings bank, Fourth avenue and Wood street, now has his account.

It pays 4 per cent interest compounded twice a year and offers absolute security. Deposits are accepted in any amount from $1 up either in person or by mail.

A large number of French and Russian officials and members of the diplomatic corps were assembled at the station, including Ambassadors Nelidoff and Cassini. M. Mollard, chief of the protocol department of the foreign office representing Premier Rouvier, and Police Prefect Lepine.

The trip of M. Witte and his party from St. Petersburg to Paris was uneventful. The Russian statesman was joined before his arrival here by his married daughter and his grandchild. M. Witte will remain here till the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse sails July 26 from Cherbourg.

DESTITUTE IN CINCINNATI.

Former Well-to-Do Pittsburgh Woman and Her Four Children Ejected from Their Home.

Mrs. Robert E. Kolliker, daughter of John C. Kreis, a soap manufacturer of Merrimac avenue, Duquesne Heights, with her four children, is destitute in Cincinnati, O., according to a telegram from that city last night.

At the Cincinnati Children's home Mrs. Kolliker told Supervisor Longman that she had been evicted from her home, 1101 Clark street, in that city. Her husband, she said, had been a piano manufacturer and she thought he was now in New York. She told Mr. Longman she had written to her father, but had received no reply. Mr. Longman has also written to Mr. Kreis.

Inquiry at the Kreis residence last night elicited the information that the family was in ignorance of Mrs. Kolliker's predicament. It was stated that Mrs. Kolliker had secured a divorce from her husband some years ago, and had not lived in this city for a long time. She had been possessed of considerable money, and the fact that she was destitute puzzled the family, although, it was said, immediate steps would be taken to relieve her.

QUICK WIT SAVED BOAT.

Narrow Escape of Sunday School Excursionists from Repetition of Slocum Disaster.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The deliberate beaching of the crowded excursion boat Sirius today prevented a threatened repetition of the disaster to the excursion steamer General Slocum, which cost a thousand lives 13 months ago.

In a strait near North Brother Island the Iron River excursion boat Sirius, carrying a Sunday school picnic, was passing the steamer William G. Payne. While rolling in the trough of the Payne's swells, the Sirius was dropped violently upon a hidden rock. The blow stove a hole through a steel plate into a bulkhead. The excursionists did not realize what had occurred, but Capt. William M. Pearce knew, and he headed the boat directly for the mud flats of Rikers island, nearly a mile away. Rescue parties followed fast in the wake of the excursion boat, and when the steamer's bow settled in the mud police patrol boats and the steamer Massasoit were at hand to take off the frightened passengers, who returned to their homes.

Twin Boys Burned to Death.

MUSKEGON, MICH., July 21.—George and James Cribley, six-year-old twin boys, were burned to death in their home on a farm, 11 miles east of here, last night. A spark from a harvesting machine set the roof of the house afire.

we will be pleased to wait upon our public for anything called for. Those who follow our news morning and evening throughout the week have a pretty fair understanding that whatever is needed can be bought here for lowest prices. Those who have but superficial knowledge of the store should make it a point to investigate its declarations. And there is no better time for investigation than on a Saturday. The only thing that we will discuss this morning will be is being swept into the hands of investors by the greatest hurricane of enthusiasm known to the annals of real estate.

BROOKLINE

People want Brookline real estate because they see that it is not only going to make more money for them than any investment ever did before, but because it is the most charming location that can be thought of for a home.

A well-known attorney declared yesterday: "The stories which we have heard about this property sounded like a dream. But back of the great promises there seems to have been the purest truth that ever characterized a business proposition."

Why did the lawyer say that? We will tell you. He learned by investigation that we are putting in those twenty-five miles of complete street improvements just as we said we would. He saw with his own eyes while examining that portion of the improvements which have been already finished that they are GOOD improvements—the very finest that money can buy.

He took note of the great two-track trolley that we are building the entire length of that 80-foot boulevard, and reasoned within himself what a wonderful traction system it will be as soon as the double tracks are extended all the way to town.

No other new property ever had as much money spent on it for improvements, and no other ever did or ever will increase as rapidly in value.

When you start for Brookline make up your mind that you'll have a drink from the sparkling waters of the now famous Brookline Spring, Mother Nature's wonderful gift.

Take cars day or night on Smithfield Street, or at the Union, B. & O. or P. & L. E. Depots.

At night the electric lights make the property bright as day.

Chicago's teamsters strike has been declared off. It had been lost long ago. It had little excuse in its inception and was condemned at the beginning by the resort to violence. There must be no mistake about the lesson. This country will not tolerate mob rule. There are means provided for securing justice for every man and violence will not be countenanced.

Withdrawal of the application for a charter for the borough of Bon Air, with the understanding that West Liberty and adjacent territory shall be annexed to the city of Pittsburgh, is gratifying. It is one more step in the direction of consolidating and solidifying the Greater Pittsburgh. West Liberty borough is of this city and should belong to it. In return its people are entitled to city protection and conveniences.

An attempt to assassinate the sultan of Turkey is reported. It is a new method, but an old object. The assassination of rulers is more often attempted in Turkey than in Russia, but poison has heretofore been preferred to nitro-glycerin. The attempt failed of its object. Several unoffending attendants were murdered. Worse still, Turkey is farther than ever removed from just government. The assassin is never a reformer.

Judge Joseph Buffington's decision that collusion in bidding for private contracts is immoral and opposed to good public policy marks a step of progress. It is in line with President Roosevelt's appeals for more honesty in the relations between men and a code of more scrupulous business principles. When the ban of the courts is put upon questionable practices, as well as the disapproval of conscientious sentiment, those practices will cease.

Japanese warships are reported at the mouth of the Amur river and, with other operations, indicate a formidable invasion of Siberia. It is probably the intention to invest Vladivostok, as the occupation of other territory would be of small advantage. But whatever the ultimate purpose there can be no question that Japan is not relying wholly on the peace conference in this country to secure what it began the war for. It desires peace, but is prepared to continue to fight for peace on its own terms.

The situation faced by Prime Minister Balfour is the most serious in his official experience. The question on which his government suffered defeat is not of the utmost importance. It is not the cause of the waning popularity of his ministry. The vote, however, is an indication that his cabinet is no longer supported by a large majority in the house and that it is desired he should go to the people with his cause. If Balfour accepts the challenge the campaign will be fought on the tariff issue whether he wills it or not and it is obvious he fears the result for his party.

China's note to the powers, insisting the peace negotiations must contemplate no agreement affecting Chinese territory unless the same is submitted for Chinese approval, will cause much speculation. It indicates an unwonted accession of vigor in Chinese diplomacy and suggests many possibilities. There is one thing that cannot be denied; the demand is just. Japan and Russia have fought over Manchuria, greatly to its detriment. China has made no protest. It has filed no claim. It certainly has the right, now, to have its territory without burdensome conditions.

In the disaster to the gunboat Bennington there is a warning to the navy department. This vessel has been in commission 14 years and its steam equipment had deteriorated. There are other vessels in similar condition and repairs should be carefully looked after. The immediate cause of the explosion may never be determined. Boilers explode sometimes without apparent cause and without having detectable defects. The very force of the explosion in this instance proves the boiler was capable of carrying a high pressure and it is quite probable did hold above the allowed 145 pounds to the square inch. This, however, does not weaken the warning to the department to increase the factor of safety in boilers, machinery and armament, in the interest of efficiency as well as that of the men.

Boodle is for Campaign.

It is now denied there was ever any purpose to raise money from property owners in the district to pay a part of the cost of reducing the hump. On the contrary, it is openly avowed the purpose of the meeting next Monday is to raise funds to pay for the campaign in favor of the issue of bonds for the extreme cut of 18 feet. In other words, the motto of property holders who expect to reap benefits from this street improvement, to paraphrase one more familiar, is: "Thousands to influence the voters in our behalf, but not a cent for reduction of the general tax burden."

It is noted the "campaign of education" has been inaugurated with the representation that labor will be employ. The first item represents Mr. Frick as being eager to build a $10,000,000 office building and a large hotel if the hump is cut. Mr. Frick, on the contrary, protests against the extreme reduction, but desires to employ labor to build on the hill. He may change his plans and not spend his millions for labor if the 18-foot cut is ordered. He desires to build soon and so has limited his waiver of damages to 18 months. If the extreme cut is ordered, every sane citizen knows the city will be lucky if building operations can be earnestly prosecuted within three years. The job proposed is not the work of a moment.

It will cost considerable money to make a campaign of misrepresentation successful. It will cost the general taxpayers much more to pay the damages inflicted, direct and consequential. The benefits will accrue almost exclusively to owners of property in a small district, and to the politicians who disburse the money. There is no longer any pretense that waivers of damages are expected from the principal properties affected, and the offers of payments toward the cost of a moderate, but sufficient, cut are contemptuously thrown aside. The humpcutters are bent on making a far worse project than the one defeated at the polls last year.

Greater Greensburg.

A charter issued from the state department yesterday for Greater Greensburg. The town is composed of the boroughs of Greensburg, Ludwick, East Greensburg and Southeast Greensburg, effected under the Gochring law. The new incorporation will comprise a population of more than 10,000 and may become a city of the third class after the next census—one of the thriving, progressive industrial towns of this great state. Before that time South Greensburg and Southwest Greensburg may be properly added with an additional population of 2,000.

This consolidation serves as a reminder that Greater Pittsburgh is not yet accomplished. The boroughs are coming in, one by one, but Allegheny remains out for the political benefit of a faction chargeable with the promotion of vice that has made the name of the city a by-word. The time is coming, however, and coming soon, when the good people of Allegheny will burst their bonds and bring themselves into Pittsburgh for a greater and for a better city.

Hooker's Scotch Verdict.

The New York legislature, sitting as a jury in the impeachment proceedings brought against Warren B. Hooker, a justice of the supreme court of that state, has, after a few weeks' investigation, virtually rendered a Scotch verdict of "guilty but not proven," which is anything but creditable to the accused, for the smoke of the fire he has gone through will cling to him.

The resolution that came from the judiciary committee of the assembly, which was in the nature of a formal indictment, recited that Hooker, "while a representative in congress, prior to the 16th of November, 1898, and while a justice of the supreme court of New York, since that date, has been wilfully guilty of corrupt, unlawful and immoral acts, which have tended to bring and have brought the said justice of the supreme court and the administration of justice into contempt, and which show the personal unfitness on the part of the said Warren B. Hooker to hold and occupy the office of justice of the supreme court."

The more definite specifications were that Hooker had procured the appointments of several federal officers in the state through questionable methods, and had used his influence with regard to other political appointments wholly inconsistent with the supposed purity of the highest court of New York, dealing with the destinies of his fellow men. On the witness stand Justice Hooker admitted to some of the charges, but excused himself on the ground he was merely doing what others had done, and that he "meant no harm." Such a defense might stand for a professional politician, but for a high court officer it would seem to be a convicting admission.

The New York assembly by a majority vote—76 to 67 for removal—put the ban of guilt, or, more politely expressed, unfitness upon Justice Hooker, but as it required a two-thirds vote to confirm the allegations of the citation resolution, the justice goes free with the privilege of serving out his term on the supreme court bench, which extends for nine years.

The result is a sorry comment on a virtuous effort to purify the judicial end of the government of New York, and, at the same time, gives no encouragement to the honest elements in both the Democratic and Republican parties aiming at an honest administration of public affairs. The weakness and half-heartedness of the prosecution of Hooker is shown in the fact that the New York assembly by an overwhelming vote laid on the table even a mild resolution of censure.

It appears some strange influences were brought to bear upon this case, as party lines were broken to a considerable extent in the voting, which may be looked upon with comfort by the friends of the accused, but suspicion by the public. It is a sad commentary on the judgment of a legislator, who is supposed to have been elected to conserve the best interests of his constituency, when explaining his vote he admits the guilt of the man, but advises the jury to let him off with the admonition to "go and sin no more." Clearly this is a dangerous precedent to apply to the supposedly impeccable bench when such leniency is never observed when the convicted party is brought before the bar for sentence.

The Business Situation.

The raising of the semi-annual rate of dividend to 2½ per cent on the common stock of the Union Pacific railroad, and the declaration of an extra dividend on the stock of the Illinois Central railroad, together with the resumption of dividends by two industrial corporations and an increase in the rate of a third, has a wider significance than that directly bearing upon the affairs of the corporations concerned. The larger distribution of earnings among stockholders is accepted as evidence that in the judgment of the managers current conditions and future prospects for general business are good. The action taken by the railroads comes at a time when the winter wheat harvest is practically completed, and when the spring wheat crop has made sufficient progress to warrant expectations of an average yield. In the case of the industrial corporations, the action is justified by domestic and foreign trade conditions. The suspension of dividends by one of our most important local industrial corporations was due to special causes that are well understood and which have no direct bearing upon the general business situation.

The compilation of the returns of our foreign commerce for June and for the fiscal year ended with that month showed the largest totals in the history of the country. The best feature of these returns was the proof furnished of the broadening of the foreign markets for our products and the more diversified character of our trade with foreign nations.

The withdrawal of government deposits from the banks under the call of the secretary of the treasury was accomplished without the least disturbance to the money market. In fact, the rate on call loans in New York declined to 1¾ per cent during the week, and the open market rate in London was still lower. It is currently reported that Wall street has borrowed a large amount of money in London during the past three weeks, and this borrowing, together with the excess of government expenditures over receipts, has had the effect of increasing the supply of loanable funds in the domestic market. Nevertheless, the reserves of the banks as compared with requirements are low for the season, and if the expansion of legitimate trade is accompanied with an extensive revival of speculation, we are likely to have the usual recurrence of a more or less stringent money market late in the fall. It may be that appreciation of this fact has tended to hold in check any increased activity in the stock market.

In industrial circles business continues active. There has been improvement in the tone of the pig iron market and prices of finished material are firm. Cotton and woolen fabrics are firmer, due to the higher price of raw material. The glass trade is reported in a stronger position than for years. Coal trade conditions continue unsatisfactory, but improvement here should come with continued activity in other industrial circles.

One of the most marvelous journalistic developments of the time is the assumption of the Pittsburgh Post of the right to speak authoritatively for "every honest Republican of Pennsylvania." There are millions of honest Republicans in Pennsylvania and to the extent they have been acquainted with the Post they have regarded it as the mouthpiece of Democracy, not all honest.

As The Gazette expected, Mr. Rook's Dispatch had not the honesty to correct the one deliberate misquotation cited to test its fairness. After a wriggling evasion on that point it returns to absolutely false charges, to further misrepresentations and to personalities. That is the exact measure of the Dispatch, the personal and political organ of Director Bigelow.

According to the "scientific campaign of education," Mr. Frick will never build on his properties unless the hump is cut 18 feet. Mr. Frick, however, has expressed a contrary opinion. He wants a cut of not more than 10 or 12 feet, that can be completed in 18 months, at most, and is ready to employ the builders.

Gov. Pennypacker did not approve the soldier boys' clothes. A timely touch and truthful, but it must be borne in mind it is no criticism of the men who are compelled to wear the old togs.

It is not for us to say what Miss Ida Tarbell is writing, but it is not history, as she calls it, for history is an impartial record of past events.

Justice would hardly recognize herself as she is garbed at Central station. Can anything better be expected from this administration?

There are people stubborn enough to insist that street cars shall be equipped with fenders that comply with the law on the subject.

Labor is represented as falling all over itself to indorse the plan for a $40,000,000 "city beautiful," red tag, Dispatch brand.

Japan appears to hold something to back its peace conference ante. Now, is Russia bluffing on a bobtail flush?

Property owners in the hump district show no enthusiasm about paying any part of the cost.

Possibly the hump boodle fund is to defray the cost of the "city beautiful" scheme.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Why do you swear?

Have you ever tried to figure out an answer to this question?

If not it will be worth while to do so now, or at least to begin, for it may take you some time to work out a satisfactory answer, it being rather difficult to prove that white is black.

In the first place, swearing is unnecessary, and in the second place, it is so closely associated with immorality that it is generally rated as immoral in itself.

At best it is an evidence of ill temper, or of gross carelessness in manner and form of speech.

It used to be that men rarely swore except when angered, but now the most of it is done through carelessness or indifference, as is shown by the fact that men swear profanely, and profusely, when in the best of humor. With these it has become a habit, or is indulged in as a luxury and not as a necessity.

There is none, probably, who will honestly contend that swearing is ever a necessity, much less being a refined and polite accomplishment, even though he may swear by note, as the saying goes. Some, no doubt, are rather proud of their proficiency in the use of bad words.

Nor are there any, or at lest not many, who will claim there is any profit or advantage to be gained by swearing, while all, or nearly all, will concede that it is unprofitable as well as unbecoming for anyone, no matter what his rank or station in life, to make use of profane or coarse and vulgar language.

Do your boys swear?

How do you enjoy hearing them at it? Does it amuse you, or make you feel more proud of them?

Some parents think it very smart in their boys to "cuss and swear" like real men. And there are those of whom you might expect better things, who really seem to enjoy listening to boys using profane, coarse and vulgar language.

If you swear yourself you may reasonably expect your boys to do the same, for they believe that what you do is all right. Besides, children are imitative and not thinkers and reasoners. To forbid them doing as you do is to make them feel that you are denying them the privilege of doing that in which you seem to find much pleasure and satisfaction.

Your wife may be a good woman and a model mother, and do all she can to keep your boy from swearing, but the chances are that she will fail, and simply for the reason that the boy is naturally inclined to imitate you in word and act, so that you, and not the boy's mother, will be responsible for his use of bad language.

If swearing was in anyway useful there would be some excuse for it, but as the case stands it does no good, and is no credit to anyone.

Pure-minded, clean-hearted people, do not swear, nor use coarse or vulgar language, while the evil-minded, the immoral and the indifferent sort make it a part of their stock in trade. In fact swearing is their trade-mark.

Does your preacher ever talk to you from the pulpit concerning the swearing habit?

Such themes are not regarded as lofty enough for sermons, nor well adapted to the display of learning, logic and eloquence. They are excellent subjects for pulpit talks, however, but these are not very popular, and for the reason that a talker cannot soar over, sail around, and dive under his subject as does the orator, or fluent speaker.

It might not do much good, therefore, to preach on swearing, but if preachers were to talk heart to heart with the people on the subject it would do a great deal of good. If it wouldn't there would be no use in preaching.

The Everett (Pa.) Republican recently announced that on the following Sunday all the preachers in the town would preach on profanity. This led to the following editorial in the Raftman's Journal:

"It was thought that Clearfield was the only town where the necessity existed for sermons upon profanity. It is true that profanity is as broad in its use as the nations of the earth. It is not confined to any people or to any nationality, but is common everywhere.

"What is it used for? We never could understand when something went wrong in business or in the office, one would have to overcome it by a series of oaths that neither punish the offender or benefit the accuser. An oath is about as heartless a word as can be uttered. It adds no dignity to controversy nor does it recommend its utterer as the highest type of gentleman.

"The taking the name of God in vain, in an angry fit or at a time you expect to accomplish something, is not calculated to invoke the favor of the Lord in your undertaking, but should have just the reverse influence and invoke God's condemnation, rather than his pleasure.

"There is no time that habit asserts itself so much as in the uttering of oaths. Four-fifths of the men who swear do so from the force of habit, and would really be sorry if they could hear themselves as others hear them. Parents form the habit and children are quick to imitate them, and thus the sinful custom is spread with as much ease as the smallpox or spotted fever.

"Swearing is not confined to men above their majority alone, but young boys in their teens, and some who have not reached that far, swear. To this we mention the humilitating spectacle of women swearing and this is no uncommon fault.

"To see a man smoke a pipe or a cigarette is bad enough, but to see a woman imitate him in these practices is no worse than to hear a women swear and level herself to that of a circus driver or the lowest type of man.

"We would rather see a woman drink whisky than swear; we would rather see her drink whisky than smoke, as both are degrading to her sex; we would rather see a man chew tobacco, drink rum and trade horses, than to hear him swear in that constancy that comes to most of men who thoughtlessly do so."

By the way, if your boy swears, what is to hinder your girl from doing likewise, seeing that she is as imitative as her brother?

As a rule women do not swear as much as men, or rather not as many women as men swear at all.

Yet some women can, and do, swear a pretty lively clip under certain forms of provocation. Others who have never been known to swear out loud have admitted that they sometimes thought of the words their husbands would have used, under the same provocation.

Young women, or those in the matrimonial market, are always shy of men who drink or gamble. It would be well for them to place swearing on the list, for it is ever a sign of ill temper, lack of keen moral sense, and a want of gentleness and refinement. Place it on your little list and you will be more apt to get a gentle, refined, heartsome husband.

Some argue that there is no harm in swearing where harm is not intended.

There is harm in it, for that which is not good and proper is ill and harmful. You know yourself that it is not creditable, which is the same as saying that it is discreditable.

It is better that you swear not at all, but adopt the good and safe Quaker rule of yea, yea, and nay, nay.

"If."

When the boys is yellin' "extry"
An' the town is in a stir
An' the people crowd the sidewalk
As they come from near an' fur,
The man that made the trouble
Very often you will find
Sittin' restful in his office
In a placid frame of mind.

It ain't the man that cheers the most
Who rules election day—
It ain't the angry talker
Who will drive the Trusts away.
It's the silent, patient person,
Who can smile and never snivv—
The man that does the fussin'
Ain't the man that does the work.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 21.—It is astonishing how quickly a tip will spread around on a race track and the influence it has on the majority of horse players, either for or against its winning. At Brighton Beach yesterday there was a tip on Early and Often that was so strong it turned the tide of speculation in her favor, notwithstanding that her last race was anything but encouraging. It was claimed, on excellent authority, that Early and Often had worked five furlongs in less than one minute, and that the good showing was on account of the filly wearing blinkers. The "clockers" were all very wise to the work, and it was only a question with them whether Early and Often would wear the blinkers in the race. A ring detective was shipped to the paddock to see if Martin had weighed out with blinkers according to rule. The answer was that he had. This was the signal to get aboard; in fact, so positive were some folk that she would win that they advised their friends to bet supper money. Those who followed the last advice were very hungry last night, for Early and Often did not win; in fact, she did not have a chance to beat Whimsical after they had gone a quarter of a mile.

Auto Kills Boy and Hurries On.

A large dark green touring automobile this afternoon killed 11-year-old Frederick Busching of the Bronx, and the Tremonst station police have been unable to learn the identity of those in the car. There were three men in the car and the one who was operating it was coatless. According to witnesses, when the boy was struck and hurled 20 feet through the air, the occupants of the machine looked around and laughed aloud. Then they put on more power and made their escape. Busching was playing "cat" by himself on the Southern boulevard, about 200 feet north of Home street. The automobile came through Home street at a rapid rate of speed and hurled the lad into the air. He landed on his head, fracturing the base of the skull, killing him instantly.

Felled Mother With Beer Glass.

George Coppage, 22 years old, a negro, living in Brooklyn, was arrested today charged with beating his mother into unconsciousness and severely injuring his sister Mary during a fight in their home. Mrs. Coppage was taken to the Kings County hospital, where it was said she would probably die. Her skull is fractured and her whole body bruised. Coppage is charged with having assaulted the woman with a heavy beer glass. A fight is said to have resulted from the fact that the negro had come in late and under the influence of liquor, for which he was remonstrated with by the woman. Infuriated, he is said to have used the beer glass as a club, felling his mother to the ground and striking his sister so that she rushed into the street screaming for help. A policeman heard her and arrested the negro. Coppage was locked up in the Atlantic avenue station. His sister's injuries were dressed and she remained at home.

Brooklyn in Fear of Typhoid.

An epidemic of typhoid fever threatens Brooklyn as a result of the water famine. Only one day's average storage of water —1,270,177,100 gallons—remains in the big Ridgewood reservoir. In the Homestead reservoir there are 203,603,100 gallons. With a daily consumption, at present cut to 123,000,000 gallons, this constantly decreasing reserve in the storage reservoirs is being viewed with serious alarm by the water department and the board of health. Fever cases are increasing daily, and the spread of disease is especially noticeable among babies and children in the congested district. The only hope of relief lies in rain.

No Cigarettes in Ellis Island.

Cigarettes are tabooed on Ellis Island. Commissioner Watchorn has started a crusade by stopping their sale and causing it to be known among the employes that cigarette smokers are not wanted. Immigrants are nearly all addicted to the use of cigarettes, and since the sale has been stopped there consternation has prevailed among foreigners, who cannot understand why these are denied to them. The cigarettes in the contracting caterer's stores have been packed away as "dead stock."

Lilian's Auto Stops.

Lilian Russell's big red touring car broke down directly in front of the New York entrance to the Brooklyn bridge today. A large crowd collected and witnessed the actress' predicament, much to her annoyance. Her chauffeur tried in every manner to repair the break, and finding that he was not meeting with any success, the singer jumped out of the car and, summoning a cab, was driven uptown. The accident was caused by the breaking of a foreign-made tire.

Stranger Came Out Ahead.

Max Silverman of Pittsburgh and Bruno Gunman of St. Louis are deploring today their confidence in human nature which impelled them to place their valuables in the same envelope with those of a chance acquaintance who took them in bathing at Coney Island. The stranger claimed the envelope while they still were in the ocean. Their joint loss is $53 and a check for $2,000. Payment on the latter, however, has been stopped.

Well-Trained and Seasoned.

Mr. Root lacks the advantage of diplomatic training, but in all other respects merits to the full the requirements of the great office to which the president is said to have invited him. He is one of the foremost lawyers in the country, and is well trained and seasoned in the conduct of large affairs. He would add weight and solidity to the cabinet and breadth and steadiness to the conduct of our foreign relations.—Philadelphia Record.

PICKED UP IN LOBBIES

Expects Record-Breaking Year.

Francis L. Robbins, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, left Pittsburgh on the Pennsylvania limited last night for Chicago on a business trip. Before leaving Mr. Robbins said that while coal operations are not heavy just now, it is expected that the fall will see the heaviest operations in the bituminous history. "We are not running the mines very heavy at present," said he, "and the car supply is really very good—more cars, in fact, than we need for the demands. But this condition will not last through the fall, I fear. There have been large orders placed by the railroads for equipment, especially for coal cars this season, the number ordered by all of the Pittsburgh lines being far larger than in former years. Yet with all of these cars the outlook is that more will be needed to handle the immense output from the mines. The demands for fall shipment are heavy. In a few weeks the mines will be in full operation, giving employment to every man in our service."

Will Camp on Canadian Lake.

Seventy-five Pittsburghers who are members of the Meredolphians Camping club will leave over the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railway tomorrow evening for Washingtonian, Canada, where they will pitch their tents for a camp life of a few weeks. The party will travel in two special Pullman cars. Pittsburg Passenger Agent C. O'D. Pasmalt of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railway says that the road has handled more fishing and camping clubs to the Canadian lakes this year than ever before. Lake Ontario has also been well patronized.

Boys' Brigade Off for Camp.

The Pittsburgh and Homestead companies of the United Boys' Brigade of America, of which Col. H. F. Dope of this city is commander-in-chief, left last night in a special train over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for Sea Girt, N. J., where they will enjoy camp life for 10 days, returning to Pittsburgh August 1. The train was composed of six coaches, a baggage car and a Pullman, and carried about 400 persons, including about 300 members of the Pittsburgh company and a similar number from Homestead. The camp will be pitched on the camping grounds of the New Jersey National Guard, and regular camp routine will be observed, although freedom for enjoyment of the vacation jaunt will also be given.

Back from Good Vacation Trip.

F. L. Bonneville, one of the popular clerks at the Hotel Henry, was behind the counter last evening again greeting his many traveling friends and assigning them the best that the Henry had to offer. Mr. Bonneville has been enjoying a vacation jaunt of a few weeks in the east, employing the time in gunning, fishing and swimming.

The Hon. Joseph Bensinger, proprietor of the Commercial hotel at Dubois, was in the city yesterday, being registered at the Hotel Henry, where he conferred with Manager Bonneville. Mr. Bonneville is president of the State Hotel Men's association, and Mr. Bensinger is treasurer. They discussed further features of the coming convention at Philadelphia.

Among those registered at the Lincoln is Francis J. Doddemeade of Sydney, N. S. W.

Philadelphian Evolves Speedy Joke.

He was sitting on a seat that he had purloined out of a nail keg left in the lobby by the contractor's men who are remodeling the Hotel Anderson. His coat was off and he appeared of a temperment that didn't care whether the world went on or not—just easy-going and let it go. Then some one called out his name and asked him to come to the opposite side of the lobby. He casually looked up and suggested that the fellow come to him, as he didn't care to move. "Why," said he, "the only other fello' from Philadelphia who ever moved got in front of a hearse and was run down. No moving for Joe Levy if he can help it this hot weather."

Mr. Root was really the dominating figure in the cabinet of McKinley and Roosevelt, although Mr. Hay's sterling qualities which won recognition more slowly brought him gradually into commanding prominence. DELAY PURCHASE OF WATER PLANT

Chairman Costello Favors Submitting the Matter to Viewers Next Year.

HUMP PROCLAMATION IS OUT

"Personally, I am in favor of waiting until the end of the next year to purchase the South Side plant of the Monongahela Water Company at the price fixed by viewers or appraisers, instead of buying the plant outright just now from the company," said Select Councilman John Costello, who was yesterday chosen chairman of Director Bigelow's committee to negotiate with the Monongahela Water Company for the transfer of the plant to the city.

Director Bigelow's scheme to negotiate with the company is intended to conciliate the South Side and to remove the opposition of that section to the hump project.

"I don't know what we can do, or whether we can do anything," said Chairman Costello. "The committee will arrange for a meeting with the officers of the company for some day next week and we will then try to get the company's price on the plant. I have no opinion what the city ought to pay for the plant, but I believe it will be based on the earnings instead of upon the intrinsic value of the plant."

"Suppose the committee of councils and the company should agree on a price, how are you going to pay for the plant and how soon would you buy it?"

Delay Past Hump Election.

"That I cannot say. We would probably have to buy it by a bond issue. Councils could issue the amount of bonds necessary to purchase the plant without submitting the matter to the people. Councils can authorize the issue of bonds to an amount not exceeding 2 per cent of the taxable valuation of the property of the city without a vote of the people. It is not possible to conclude any negotiations for the purchase of the South Side water plant before the election on the hump removal is held."

The joint committee of councils, appointed to negotiate with the Monongahela Water Company for the purchase of the South Side system, organized in the city clerk's office yesterday afternoon by electing Mr. Costello chairman, according to the program mapped out by Director Bigelow. The other members of the committee are John Semmelrock, Twenty-sixth ward; P. J. Barry, Fifth ward, Joseph Zeuger, Ninth ward, and Robert Porter, Twenty-first ward. The committee consists of four Citizens or administration councilmen, and one Republican, Mr. Semmelrock, who is an advocate of the purchase of the South Side plant.

Mr. Barry nominated Mr. Costello for chairman, and he was chosen unanimously. Mr. Porter moved that the committee adjourn to meet some morning next week, when Chairman Costello arranges a meeting with the officers of the Monongahela company. This was agreed to. Nothing further was done.

Mayor's Proclamation Issued.

The proclamation of Mayor Hays, announcing the hump election on August 22, will be published for the first time today. The law requires that it be published 30 days prior to the election. The expiration of the 30 days' limit from today in which to submit the question of a bond issue to the people precludes the submission to the voters at the same time of the proposition to purchase the South Side water plant.

Chairman Costello says councils can authorize a bond issue of $5,000,000 to buy the plant without a vote of the people, but it is not probable the administration has any such plan in mind, because of the evident unpopularity of such a plan at the near approach to the fall election.

To all appearances the plan of the administration is to allow matters with reference to the South Side water problem to drift along until after the hump election on August 22, when the administration hopes enough of the opposition on the South Side will be sufficiently allayed by promises to enable the hump project to win.

Frick's Refusal Reported.

A report was in circulation yesterday that Director Bigelow had received a cable from Europe stating that H. C. Frick had emphatically refused to sign a waiver for the 18-foot cut. The director would not admit this, however. The director said he was willing to go ahead with the 18-foot cut, regardless of Mr. Frick. The ordinances for the removal of the hump will not be passed by councils until after August 22. Director Bigelow's excuse for delaying these bills is that if the project is defeated at the polls the ordinances would have to be repealed, if passed in advance of the election.

Director Bigelow said the meeting of property owners in his office next Monday was not planned for the purpose of securing contributions to pay the expenses of the improvement, but to raise a campaign fund to "educate" the voters. The necessity of raising a large sum of money to make a successful campaign is realized by the administration, and abutting property owners, who are to be most benefited, are counted upon to contribute liberally.

Alderman Postpones Suit Against Men Said to Have Fraudulently Issued Passes.

Alderman James V. McMaster yesterday continued until July 28, the cases against Charles Riddle, W. H. Hookey John Reed, L. F. Byron and C. R. Richardson. The suits grew out of the theft of passes from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company. Riddle, Hookey and Reed are charged with conspiracy in having fraudulently issued the passes, and Byron and Richardson with the fraudulent use of them.

Had the passes alleged to have been fraudulently issued been sold for their full value they would have brought in several thousand dollars. They were issued for New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, and it is said the price charged for a pass to any of the above points from Pittsburgh ranged from $4 to $6. All of the men furnished bail for the hearing.

Scott is a son of John W. Scott, formerly a coal operator of this city and at one time president of the Allegheny Valley railroad. Scott will return without requisition papers.

PLAN TO TAKE IN WEST LIBERTY

Bon Air Borough Idea Dropped and the Older Place May Become Fortieth Ward.

PETITIONS NOW CIRCULATING

The plans which were drawn for the new borough of Bon Air, to have been the smallest and most compact borough in the state of Pennsylvania, consisting of less than 125 acres, have been withdrawn from the recorder's office of Allegheny county, and all efforts to establish the new borough from territory embraced in West Liberty borough are to be stopped.

Instead, petitions are being circulated throughout West Liberty, asking citizens to consent to come into Pittsburgh, making this the new Forty-first ward, unless some other borough steals a march on it and gets ahead. This territory is directly back of the Mt. Washington tunnel and contains a number of new plans of lots which are now being placed on the market. The people back of the new scheme are those who were ready to file their petition in the quarter sessions court asking to be incorporated into a new borough. The Bon Air territory is now a portion of West Liberty borough, but the residents of that section wanted certain improvements they did not believe were obtainable as long as they were part of the old borough. Among these were police service, electric light and new and better sewerage system.

West Liberty borough contains about 1,200 acres, and has a population of about 3,000, which will make it a fairly large ward. In addition to this it contains lot plans which are building up rapidly, and which will add considerably to the population and taxable values.

It was figured out by the people that 22 mills will be required to enable them to secure what they want in the way of improvements, this including 14 mills for running expenses and four mills each for police and light. Then it would take about $250,000 to establish the lines of sewers needed, and the borough could only issue, without submitting it to a vote, bonds to the amount of about $115,000.

If the whole borough of West Liberty is taken into the city it will cut down the millage and cost the new ward only about 6½ mills for running expenses and about four mills for school bonds. The police lines can be extended and light furnished by the city at much less cost.

Unless the whole borough agrees to become a new ward the new borough of Bon Air will be established, and it will probably join the city as a new ward.

Aspinwall may possibly get in ahead of West Liberty and will be designated as Fortieth ward.

SECURE CONTRACT TO EQUIP MEXICAN MINES

Westinghouse Interests to Fit Up Group of Gold Mines in Mexico Controlled By British Capital.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 21.—The Westinghouse interests have just secured some interesting contracts for various equipment to be installed in some of the largest Mexican mines. The contracts were closed through G. & O. Braniff of Mexico City, which concern acts as the Westinghouse representative in the southern republic.

One contract requisitions for a 3,000-horse power equipment to be utilized for lighting and operating the Dos Estrellas group of gold mines, in the famous El Oro district. These mines, which are controlled by British capital, will derive their power from the huge Necaxa power plant of the Mexican Light and Power Company—the American-Canadian syndicate which is spending $15,000,000 in the construction of the most gigantic power transmission system outside of the United States. The energy will be carried 175 miles to the El Oro camp.

The El Oro Mining and Railroad Company has also contracted for 4,000-horse power of Westinghouse motors and the necessary transformers, switchboards, etc. This concern, which is also controlled by British capital, is the largest operator in El Oro. The Westinghouse people are figuring on securing further big contracts shortly for various electrical machinery, to be shipped to the same Mexican mining locality.

SAYS MOORE KNEW.

Wallace Ridicules Idea of Director Not Being Cognizant of Gambling Houses in City.

Director Moore of the department of public safety has again issued the edict that gambling houses throughout the city must be closed. This statement was not made, however, until after the arrest of Morris Price, better known as "Musty," who was charged with keeping a gambling house at Fifth avenue and Elm street.

The information against Price was made by Rosie Rubenstein, who alleged her husband lost $69 in Price's place. Price was held by Alderman Oyer in $1,000 bail for court.

Director Moore seemed surprised to learn that there are gambling establishments in his city. This, however, is laughed at by those about the public safety building. Some time ago, when the Station street gambling house was closed by members of the county detective force, Director Moore also expressed his surprise.

Superintendent Wallace of the police bureau ridiculed Director Moore's statement.

"Moore knew the Station street gambling house was in operation," said Wallace at the time.

TOUGHS BOARD THE BOAT AND GENERAL FIGHT FOLLOWS

The boat excursion given by the Independent Order of Americans of Homestead Thursday night turned into a riot on the steamer Island Queen before the boat reached Duquesne. It was found that a large crowd of toughs, with kegs of beer and whisky, had boarded the boat, and when an attempt was made to quiet them a free-for-all fight started between them and two special detectives, the latter being overpowered. As the boat passed along the shore revolvers were discharged at the houses, and bathers pelted the steamer with stones. At Duquesne several of the ringleaders were put off by the boat's crew, and the excursion was resumed.

BANKER'S HOME IS ROBBED, KEYS TO BANK MISSING

The home of M. E. Poffinberger, cashier of the First National bank of Oakmont, was entered by thieves Thursday night. Besides a watch and chain and a small amount of money the thieves secured the keys to the bank. On the same night the homes of W. J. Zahniser and Mrs. Schilling were visited, but little was taken. On Monday night the postoffice at Haffey, three miles back of Verona, was robbed of everything of value. At the home of J. H. Reynolds, a farmer, near Verona, the marauders were frightened away Thursday night by a bulldog.

Women Fight Dog Catchers.

Miss Fannie Wise and Mrs. Bessie Green took up the defense of a homeless canine on Fulton street yesterday morning when the men connected with the dog catcher's wagon tried to throw the net over the dog. With an umbrella and with fists they tackled the men and a lively scrimmage followed. The dog escaped, but the women were taken to No. 2 police station and charged with disorderly conduct. Both left forfeits for their appearance this morning.

APPLICANT FOR A PENSION DEVELOPES ODD ROMANCE

Soldier's Widow Learns She Was Only Number One and Number Two Had Been Collecting the Money for Years.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MORRISTOWN, N. J., July 21.—The pension bureau at Washington has just discovered that it has been paying a pension to the wrong woman for the last nine years. A year ago Mrs. Margaret Edwards, widow of James Edwards, applied for a pension, and was notified that a Mrs. Edwards of Minneapolis was already drawing a pension and had done so for nine years.

An investigation was started and it was found that James Edwards was obliged to leave Morristown before the war on account of a horse deal and never came back but once and that was while he was a soldier. He drifted west and secured a government claim upon which he settled and married another woman.

The first Mrs. Edwards was left with eight children, which she labored hard to bring up, and this pension with the back pay will help her comfortably in her old age. The pension bureau thinks she will be able to secure the land also.

LITTLE KANAWHA IS IN VANDERBILTS' CHARGE

Lake Erie and Baltimore & Ohio Said to Control the Much Talked Of Railroad.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, MD., July 21.—It was semi-officially stated here today that the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company has united with the Vanderbilt interests in the purchase of the coal lands, railroad rights and other property of the Little Kanawha syndicate in Central West Virginia. Here is what has been accomplished by the deal:

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company secures the elimination of the road which had been projected from Belington, W. Va., to Pittsburgh, and which was designed to parallel the Baltimore & Ohio from Belington to Grafton. This projected road was partly graded, the sum of $900,000 having been expended on the work, and in the acquisition of the rights of way. The Baltimore & Ohio will secure for its Belington branch all the coal and other tonnage originating in the territory between Grafton and Belington. No further work will be done on the road by the Little Kanawha syndicate.

The Vanderbilt lines secure an important entrance into the coal fields of West Virginia, which will be the source of profitable tonnage, and which will supply the demand for soft coal in the territory east and west traversed by them. To reach these coal lands as well as the large Guffey coal properties in Southwestern Pennsylvania, it will be necessary for the Vanderbilts to extend southward the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie road, which now has its terminus at Gates, Pa.

The deal also means that some other route must be sought for joining the West Virginia Central and Western Maryland railroads and the Wabash railroad system in the west.

FIRE BECOMES DANGEROUS.

Has Burned in Mine Seven Years, and Now Threatens Residences.

An abandoned coal mine in Dixons hollow, near East Pittsburgh, which has been burning for years, now threatens damage to residences in that vicinity. The fire is similar to that which burned for 47 years at Tamaqua, Carbon county, Pa. Since the fire started at East Pittsburgh seven years ago, the territory has become closely built up.

The fire has burned more than half a mile through the pit, and clouds of smoke and fire issue daily and nightly from the pit mouth, and the air shaft of the old mine. Repeated efforts to flood the mine and thus put out the fire have proved unavailing.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION STARTS HORSES ON FLIGHT

A gasoline tank on a peanut wagon owned by Vincenso Crallio, an Allegheny Italian, blew up yesterday afternoon while Crallio was standing at Ohio street and Cedar avenue. The wagon was demolished and Crallio was painfully burned. A team belonging to the Knotz dairy farm was standing nearby and took fright when the explosion occurred. The horses dashed down Ohio street to the corner of Sandusky, where the wagon collided with another vehicle. Both wagons were badly damaged.

Miller Merely on a Visit.

William H. Miller, aged 61, who disappeared from his home near Carnegie on Saturday, July 15, returned home last evening and surprised his wife and family, who had caused the detective and police forces of Pittsburgh to look for him. He drew over $300 from a bank, and borrowed a revolver from his son-in-law, Charles Hammell. His explanation was that he had gone to Michigan to visit an uncle he had not seen for 35 years.

Japanese Student Lectures.

At the United Presbyterian church, Leetsdale, last evening, H. Senouye, a Japanese student at the Western Theological seminary, Ridge avenue, Allegheny, delivered an interesting lecture on "Japanese Customs and Habits." He illustrated his descriptions with hundreds of articles of Japanese manufacture, and at the end sang in the Japanese language a hymn, which had been translated by him from the English.

Short Changing Is Suspected.

MILWAUKEE GRAND JURY INDICTS OFFICIALS

Total of One Hundred and Twenty-Nine Indictments Found in the County Graft Cases.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, July 21.—Twenty-four true bills against 14 persons were returned this evening by a grand jury which has been investigating alleged "grafting," making a total thus far of 129 indictments. Capiases were issued tonight for the following indicted persons: Thomas Clancey, chief of the Milwaukee fire department; William E. Hanrahan, secretary of the Milwaukee fire department; William J. Coerper, captain of fire station No. 20; Herman W. Buemming, architect; Gustave A. Dick, architect; Herman Neidnet, tile contractor; Frank Schultz, newspaper reporter; A. V. Kienzch, committee clerk county board; Fred Hartung, assemblyman; John F. Dittman, formerly supervisor; Herman Haasch, formerly chairman of the county board; Max Reinnoldt, formerly supervisor; W. H. O'Keefe, supervisor.

Chief Clancey, it is said, was interested in a fund collected to defend a bill in the last legislature requiring that members of the police and fire departments be given a hearing before discharges could be made. Clancey is charged with meeting with other members of the fire department three days ago to agree on testimony in case of being called before the grand jury. He is also charged with testifying falsely before the jury. The indictments against Hanrahan and Coerper are similar to that against Clancey. Charges against the others include bribery and extortion.

WOMAN CHARGES ASSAULT.

Accuses F. E. Mesta of Violence Toward Her on June 10.

F. E. Mesta, manager of the Mesta Machine company, Homestead, was charged before Alderman Groetzinger yesterday with assault and battery by Mrs. Margaret Sample of McDevitt place, Oakland. The assault is alleged to have occurred on June 10. After a hearing the alderman reserved his decision.

Neither Mrs. Sample nor Mr. Mesta would give the details of the affair of last night. Mr. Mesta called attention to the time that had elapsed between the alleged assault and the making of the information and said he had been approached to make a settlement, but refused. A peculiar feature of the affair is that the alderman asserts that he did not make public the bringing of the suit, neither did Mr. Mesta.

CASPAR'S NEW HAT LEADS TO ARREST FOR ROBBERY

Peter Caspar of Noblestown, Pa., was committed to jail last night by Justice George Land of Oakdale on a charge of receiving stolen goods preferred by H. S. McElhose, manager of the Carnegie Coal Company store at Oakdale. Caspar was arrested yesterday a mile back of Noblestown by County Detective Robert W. McWilliams and Joseph B. Kohen. After making the arrest Caspar was taken to Justice Lang's office, where a hearing was given him. Caspar had on a new hat, which was identified by Manager Elhose as one that had been stolen from the Carnegie store.

Sometime between Wednesday night and Thursday morning the store was entered by four men and property valued at $200 taken. The property consisted of hats, dress goods, clothing, revolvers, jewelry and hardware.

PRISONER IS CAPTURED AT POINT OF REVOLVER

At the point of a revolver James Pluck, who broke jail a few days ago at Greensburg, was captured in Fifth avenue, McKeesport, yesterday afternoon, by Officers Maund, Fedderman and Brennen. He will be held for the Greensburg authorities. His home was known to be in McKeesport and the Greensburg authorities notified the McKeesport officers to be on the lookout. Officer Brennen recognized Pluck on the street. Pluck resisted but was cowed by the officer's revolver.

WANT SUPREME BODY TO RECONSIDER RATES

Grand Regent Wickersham Will Call Royal Arcanum Grand Council Within a Week.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, July 21.—The grand council of Pennsylvania of the Order of Royal Arcanum will probably be reconvened in Harrisburg on August 22 to direct the supreme representatives from this state to petition the supreme regent to call the supreme council together to reconsider its action at a meeting in Atlantic City recently in raising the rates so as to discriminate against the older members of the fraternity.

Frank B. Wickersham of Harrisburg, grand regent of the state council, has been petitioned by 14 councils, representing a membership of 18,000, to reconvene the grand council. A meeting of the executive committee of the grand council was held here today, at which an effort was made to reconcile the differences between the two factions in the order in Pennsylvania.

Sixty-five councils in the state insist that Regent Wickersham reconvene the grand council without considering the supreme representatives. The two factions failed to agree and the outcome is almost certain to be a meeting of the grand council at the time indicated at which action will be taken to readjust the rates. The supreme representatives have been given one week by Regent Wickersham to ask that the supreme council be reconvened and if they refuse Mr. Wickersham will call the grand council together to direct it to petition for a meeting of the supreme council. Howard C. Wiggins, of Rome, N. Y., is supreme regent.

WHITE-WINGS DRENCH BELLIGERENT MOTORMAN

Lieut. Adam Neumar of the Allegheny police last night stopped a fight at the corner of Federal and Robinson street that threatened to develop into a riot. A gang from the bureau of highways and sewers was washing Federal street, and when a Troy Hill car approached the street cleaners refused to move their hose from the track. The motorman started ahead as though to go through the men and the hose, and was rewarded by having the hose turned on him. The car was backed out of reach of the stream, and at this time Lieut. Neumar appeared. He drove the white-wings from the track and allowed the car to proceed.

Plan to Escape Discovered.

Goldeman made information before Alderman Kirby yesterday, charging the girl with larceny, but the name of the defendant could not be given.

Office of City Clerk,
City of Allegheny, Pa.,
July 20, 1905.

Notice is hereby given that the following ordinance was presented at a meeting of select council of the city of Allegheny, on the nineteenth day of July 1905, and was referred to committee on public works.

LAFAYETTE WILLIS,
City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing and ordering the grading, paving and curbing of Osgood street, Tenth ward, from McIntyre avenue to Lafayette avenue, and providing for assessment and collection of the cost and expense thereof.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the grading, paving and curbing of Osgood street, Tenth ward, from McIntyre avenue to Lafayette avenue, as is hereby authorized and ordered, and the director of the department of public works is hereby instructed to prepare specifications therefor, and the mayor and the said director are authorized to advertise for proposals for doing said work in accordance with such specifications, and award the contract therefor according to the provisions of the acts of assembly in such cases made and provided.

The cost and expense of said improvement to be assessed and collected in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania pertaining thereto and regulating the same.

NEXT SUNDAY'S GAZETTE

Rules and Conditions of the "Word Hunt."

The hunt consists of selecting four words from the advertisements appearing in next Sunday's issue of The Pittsburgh Gazette.

In selecting such words you are privileged to use each letter of the alphabet four times, but no more.

Each letter of the alphabet has a value in points, according to its location in the alphabet. For example, A is one point; B, two points, C, three points, etc. This would make the letter Z count twenty-six points.

The persons selecting the four words aggregating the greatest number of points (on the basis described above) will receive the prizes. We give below examples to demonstrate the difference in value of words. Take the word "Furniture."

6—21—18—14—9—20—21—18—5
F—U—R—N—I—T—U—R—E

It contains nine letters and represents 132 points, whereas, you take the word "Handkerchief."

8—1—14—4—11—5—18—8—5—9—5—6
H—A—N—D—K—E—R—C—H—I—E—F

It contains twelve letters, which only represent 92 points.

Answers must give the words selected, explain from what ad. they were taken and where the ad. is located in the paper. This is necessary to properly check the answers.

NEWS OF THE NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

M'CANDLESS IS CONTRADICTED

Witnesses in New Castle Treasury Shortage Investigation Dispute His Testimony.

CHECKS COVERED SHORTAGES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., July 21.—Sensational revelations marked today's session of the councilmanic investigating committee which is probing the affairs of the treasurer's office as they relate to the shortage of Alex. C. Hanna, who retired from the office last April.

Statements made yesterday by John McCandless, the present incumbent, who was controller during Hanna's last term, were today flatly contradicted. McCandless had said that his first knowledge of the shortage was not earlier than 1904, when he says he spoke to Hanna regarding the office business.

Miss Laura Stevenson, for many years clerk of select council, testified that she had talked to McCandless about the shortage and that he had told her during the summer of 1903 that a deficit existed. Miss Stevenson told a straightforward and convincing story. She said McCandless not only told her of the shortage, but showed her statements relating to the deficit. She could not remember the amounts McCandless mentioned, but he had spoken to her about it three or four times.

After Miss Stevenson had left the room where the investigation is being held, McCandless said he wanted to make a statement. It was to the effect that his conversation with Miss Stevenson had related to the school funds, which were admittedly short at the beginning of Hanna's second term. Miss Stevenson was again sent for and questioned regarding the matter. She said she had understood McCandless to mean both the school and city funds and knew his conversation could not relate solely to the former, because she had asked him why he did not report the shortage to councils, which would have nothing to do with the matter if the shortage had been in the school funds alone.

Charles Duff, formerly city clerk, who resigned October 10, 1904, testified to having had a conversation along the same lines with McCandless in which the latter told him the same story he had told Miss Stevenson. Duff had been shown a statement and also the books and McCandless had asked him for advice. He had told the controller to do his duty.

Two years elapsed and McCandless had in the meantime been elected treasurer before he took any action looking to an inquiry into the state of the city funds. It is shown conclusively that McCandless' statement that Hanna had not drawn checks with which to make up his monthly shortages was incorrect.

Frank A. Shultz, teller of the Lawrence Savings & Trust company, testified that Hanna had frequently borrowed large sums from the bank, giving his personal check as an evidence of indebtedness. This was a common practice of the bank, although the treasurer had no personal account there. The loans were usually, if not always, repaid the following day. Shultz could not remember whether the checks drawn by Hanna were deposited with the receipts of the office, although he said he had no doubt that was the rule.

Fourteen deposit slips were produced, most of which were dated in 1903 and 1904, on which were items of checks for even hundreds, ranging from $500 to $1,200. Shultz could not remember who was the maker of the checks.

This statement is taken to corroborate the story told by Miss Mina Miller that the shortage was made up monthly by checks drawn against the city funds or an imaginary personal fund, which statement had been contradicted by McCandless. The mysterious checkbook which McCandless was asked yesterday to produce is still missing. Miss Miller's attorneys are still anxious to find it, as they believe it will show enough to clear up a great part of the mystery. The girl's lawyers are confident that she will be fully vindicated and the general supposition is the same.

NEWSIES ARE NOT AFFECTED.

Attorney General Decides the "Wuxtry" Salesmen Are Not Under the Factory Act.

HARRISBURG, July 21.—(Special.)—Newspapers can employ boys of any age for distribution of papers to regular customers. That is the substance of an opinion on the factory regulation law which was rendered to State Inspector Delaney today by Attorney General Carson. Capt. Delaney has all along believed that carriers were controlled by the act.

The attorney general holds that employing school boys for such purposes is not the "regular" employment sought to be regulated by the act, and does not violate either the letter or the spirit. His opinion applies only to this one class of employes.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, July 21.—Handcuffed between two constables and with a bullet wound in his leg, Elmer Dempster, a negro, was brought to jail this morning. Dempster is said to be the leader of a gang of thugs which has been operating around Suterville for several months. The charges against him are attempted burglary, carrying concealed weapons and felonious shooting.

On Tuesday night Constable August Nemeck was awakened by an attempt to enter the house of a neighbor. He opened fire upon the burglars, but they took a skiff moored along the river and escaped. Yesterday Dempster returned to Suterville. When Nemeck endeavored to arrest him he attempted to draw his revolver, but the officer shot him in the leg. Dempster then surrendered after a furious hand-to-hand battle.

The Fifth left camp yesterday afternoon and the Tenth last evening. From the Union station they marched to their respective headquarters and then disbanded.

B. & O. ENTERS RATE WAR.

Announces New York-Chicago Fare of $15, Reduction Applying to Other Eastern Cities.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad has entered into the Chicago-New York passenger rate war by announcing a rate of $15, effective July 25. It is likely, by this action extending the war to the Cincinnati gateway, that the Big Four route, the Chesapeake & Ohio and other lines will become involved and there will be a general rate war among all eastern lines.

The Baltimore & Ohio announces also that this reduction of rates will apply to Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia. Passenger traffic men are of the opinion that the rate-cutting is just begun and that before it ends it will be possible to go between New York and Chicago for $1.

CRAZED FATHER TRIES TO WIPE OUT FAMILY

Made Desperate By Reports Concerning Him He Nearly Kills Daughter. Family Is Saved.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WAYNESBURG, July 21.—Driven to desperation by reports of his ill treatment, John Straight, a wealthy farmer, is alleged to have emptied his revolver at his daughter, dealt her a blow with an ax and then struck her with a stone. Believing her dead he attempted to attack his wife and eight other children, it is said, but was prevented from killing them by the arrival of a constable who overpowered him and took him to jail. With five bullet wounds in her body Miss Straight is at the hospital at Moundsville, W. Va., and will probably die.

For some time past there had been considerable talk regarding the alleged brutal treatment of his daughter by Straight and public feeling ran high. Recently she left home and went to that of an aunt, subsequently going to the home of Samuel Griffiths, near Deep Valley. Yesterday Straight went to Cameron, W. Va., where he became intoxicated. He then went to the Griffiths home and made the alleged attack upon his daughter. None but women was in the house and no attempt was made to stop the maddened father.

Straight left for his home after he felt sure his daughter was dead, but was met there by a constable, who prevented him from carrying out his alleged threats against his family. He was placed in the Waynesburg jail this afternoon.

THIRTY-ONE TYPHOID CASES IN SINGLE DAY

Disease Steadily Increasing in Pittsburgh--Some Physicians Fail to Report.

Thirty-one new cases of typhoid fever were reported yesterday to the Pittsburgh bureau of health. Nineteen cases were reported on Thursday and 12 the day previous. The records at the bureau of health show a steady increase in the number of typhoid cases beginning the first of the month. Two hundred and one cases have been reported since July 1, and City Bacteriologist E. G. Matson says that not all cases are reported, owing to the neglect of attending physicians.

"There is a penalty of $50 for physicians failing to report contagious or infectious cases, but they are not prosecuted except when they fail to report smallpox cases," said Dr. Matson. "I do not feel alarmed at the fact that 31 cases of typhoid should have been reported in one day. These cases might extend over a period of two weeks, but if the number of new cases should continue daily at this rate, there would be some ground for alarm. About two years ago 700 cases were reported in one month.

"Typhoid, like diphtheria and scarlet fever, has its seasonal variations. It is worse in August in the number of cases, and worse in September in the number of deaths. It is at the lowest point about the first of June and goes up in July and August. In Pittsburgh, as in other places, typhoid is mainly due to the condition of the water supply."

Four cases of scarlet fever and three of diphtheria were reported yesterday.

AUTOMOBILES SMASHED AT COPELAND STATION

Two Are Injured by an Engine Crashing Into Machines in the Dark.

Two men were seriously injured in an automobile accident at the Copeland station crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad at North Braddock last night at 11:45. They are:

HENRY FENN, two ribs on left side broken, body contused.

M. W. CHAMBERS, hip severely bruised and cut.

These men are employed by the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company and were towing a disabled automobile, in which sat Thomas College. As the front automobile was almost over the tracks an engine running backward, without lights and with a caboose behind it, struck the machine, and the rope snapped between it and the rear auto.

Chambers was thrown high in the air by the impact, but Fenn was carried along with the machine for 150 feet, and by a miracle escaped death. The machine in which was College stopped before it reached the tracks and he was uninjured. Dr. J. C. Nicholls dressed the injuries and the men were sent home to East Pittsburgh.

Clarke's Crew Wins First from Quakers, But Nichols Fools Batters in Second.

HILLEBRAND'S FINE PITCHING

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—It was an even break between the Phillies and Pittsburgh today, Clarke's men winning the first 7 to 3 and Duffy's the second 5 to 1. In the first game the visitors found little difficulty in connecting with Sutthoff's shoots and it was their game from start to finish. The second contest was just the reverse, the first inning practically settling the result.

Hillebrand pitched a splendid game for Pittsburgh. He had good speed and fine control. His high, fast ball was most effective and eight of the Phillies' best batsmen were retired on strikes. The ex-Princeton pitcher was ably supported by Gibson. Only six hits were secured off Hillebrand, but four of these were bunched in the fourth inning and this was the only time the Phillies looked dangerous.

Clarke was not feeling well and retired after making a single in the third inning. Leach going to left and Beaumont to center. Three of Pittsburgh's runs were tallied on flies to Thomas. Hillebrand looked very good to the local critics. One thing certain he has the nerve required to make a winner. Doolin tried to catch Clymer napping after the latter made his two-bagger in the fifth, but Otis didn't try to get back to second. By fast handling of the ball, however, Doolin caught him at third—one of the times this trick didn't work.

Kid Nichols demonstrated that he is still a first-class pitcher by the clever way in which he landed the Phillies a winner in the second game. It was his first appearance in a Philadelphia uniform and the crowd gave him a warm welcome. He was master of the situation at all times, keeping the hits well scattered except in the sixth, when three in succession saved Pittsburgh from a shut out.

Case pitched fairly well for Pittsburgh, but his support at times was faulty. The Phillies' hits, however, were more damaging than the Pirate's errors.

In the first inning after two were down Leach made a splendid drive for three bases, but Wagner could not bring him home. Hans hit the ball hard enough, but it went straight at Doolin.

The Phillies opened up rather lively on Case. Thomas was safe on Howard's muff of Wagner's throw. Gleason and Courtney followed with hits which scored Thomas. Brain came in for an expected bunt from Titus, Gleason taking advantage of the uncovered bag. Wagner chased him, but Gleason was safe on Carlisch's poor throw. Titus then sent out a fly to Beaumont and Gleason tallied. Magee forced Courtney and was caught stealing second.

Pittsburgh looked dangerous in the sixth. After Leach was retired Wagner, Howard and Brain singled, earning a run. Howard tried to tally on Ritchey's fly to Magee, but was caught by the latter's accurate throw. In their half of the sixth the Phillies also had a little fun. Gleason doubled and took third on Courtney's out. Magee flied to Brain, but Bransfield singled to center and when Beaumont fumbled both Gleason and Titus scored.

The Phillies got one more in the eighth. Gleason was safe on a fumble by Ritchie and Case fell in trying to field Courtney's bunt. Titus grounded to Howard and Magee hit to Ritchie, who threw Gleason out at the plate. Bransfield singled, scoring Courtney. Brains held stole second, but Ritchey made a sensational stop, ending the inning.

Pittsburgh made a faint rally in the ninth. Howard and Ritchey made hits. Gibson batted for Case, but Nichols stopped his terrific drive and the game was over. The score:

CHAMPION FALLS AND LOSES HONOR

High Jumper, Heatherbloom, Meets With Accident Which Costs Him a Ribbon.

LITTLE FELLOWS TAKE PRIZES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ATLANTIC CITY, July 21.—Heatherbloom, champion high jumper of the world, with a record of 8 feet 2 inches, slipped on the take-off at the five-foot bars in the handicap event, at the Atlantic City horse show this afternoon and crashed into the hurdle, going down in a heap, with Dick Donnelly, in the tan bark, partly under him. Heatherbloom scrambled to his feet and Donnelly made a dive for the bridle, nailing his mount before running grooms could reach the spot. Donnelly was not hurt in the least and Heatherbloom showed no marks of injury, but his mishap barred him from a ribbon and the three rosettes went to May Bell, Sapoli, and Imp. Irelands Arrow, all green jumpers, who were only required to take a four-foot jump.

Some Big Prices Paid.

Mrs. J. B. M. Grosvenor, the New York sportswoman, upheld the decisions of the judges today by buying the Baron and President, H. D. Jordan's fine pair of chestnuts, which have carried off a half bushel or so of rosettes during the week. The price paid is said to have established a record, and to have been around $20,000. The Baron has taken 34 blues, in as many showings in ladies' classes, and President, a young horse, has never yet been beaten.

C. W. Watson drove Pride and Prudence, his yesterday's purchase in the tandem class, last on the card this afternoon and took the orange, first and second going to Hildred and the Baron and Newsboy and Shopgirl.

A ring parade of ribbon winners held under a blaze of lights, was the feature of the evening exhibition tonight, an innovation introduced this year. Polo ponies, hunters, and a special class for the six jumpers were interesting events on the card. Another night show will be held tomorrow night to close the week's exhibition.

Betting on the Dog Race.

Alfred Vanderbilt was not at the ringside this afternoon and rumors were to the effect that he had gone to New York to purchase the harness and wagons for the contestants in the race between his dog, Plum Pudding and Jack Donnelly's brindle speed dog tomorrow. CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 21.—One of Chautauqua's distinguished visitors, the Rev. J. H. S. For more than an hour he entertained his audience with anecdotes of his life with the British troops.

Dr. Mark Guy Pearse has had larger following at the devotional hours of the week than any speaker in years. This morning he talked on the subject "Where Christ Would Dwell." Mrs. Percy B. Pennybacker of Texas addressed the Women's club on the subject of "Home Problems," and made a plea for the cultivation of the higher patriotism.

W. R. Eastman, New York state inspector of libraries, lectured on "The Library Movement of Today." Dr. Lincoln Hulley gave the last of the series at the summer school's convention on "Education and Life." J. C. Hudson gave an interesting talk on "England's Educational Awakening."

A number of visitors witnessed the game between St. Stephen's militia of Dunkirk and the Chautauqua Athletic club.

Among the Clubs.

Flowers for Little Italy.

A distribution of flowers was made in Pittsburgh's Little Italy yesterday. There was as much eagerness on the part of the men and women in the prime of life and those verging on old age as was shown by the children, who hung to the dresses of the group of women who entered the foul-smelling courts and penetrated into the stifling tenements between Wylie avenue and Webster. Five hundred bouquets and great quantities of loose flowers found their way to these strangers from another land. The distribution to the little Italians was made yesterday morning by the flower committee for the Pittsburgh summer playgrounds and vacation schools. With baskets full of posies and carrying more in their arms, they penetrated Little Italy and, surrounded by the children and older people, were a source of curiosity to the people on the street cars passing along Sixth avenue, who realized the fact that Pittsburgh has a very crowded Little Italy right in its midst. The flower committee met yesterday morning and distributed bouquets to the various playgrounds and schools in the following numbers: Moorhead, 220; South, 200; Riverside, 150; Greenfield, 175; Andrews, 470; South Side Recreation park, 600; Washington park, 325. One thousand bouquets were sent to the Wickersham, the O'Hara and the Ralston schools by a special committee arranged for these schools. Mrs. Minnie Ourey Roberts, the chairman of the flower committee, had the following women to assist her yesterday: Mrs. Hanna, Miss Sweitzer, Mrs. E. A. Snively, Mrs. Moore, Miss Bockstoce, Miss Bessie Johnson, Mrs. M. A. Jones, Mrs. Omar Scott Decker, Miss Emma Garver, Mrs. Z. Bailey Ogden, Miss Beulah Kennard and Miss Catherine Patterson.

Raising Money to Buy Machine.

The girls in the sewing school in the Soho Settlement house have the great ambition of raising money to purchase a sewing machine. It is the purpose of the school to be self-supporting, and with the materials for the first three months, donated by Mrs. William Wilkinson, this object is being attained in a surprising manner. On Thursday afternoon at the third meeting of the school the little girls made three dozen small pocket pincushions, covered with pretty figured chintz and creton, which are being sold for 10 cents a piece. Next week small traveling cases will be made, and each week some new article is placed before the children. The enrollment exceeds 40, all children from the district surrounding the settlement house, and the money they are raising by the sale of the articles they made will be used to buy the machine.

When purchased the machine will be used in the class work and will also be called into service to aid in the sewing which the mothers of Soho must do. One of the plans is to have occasional sewing days, when they will bring their work to the settlement house. The sewing school was started under the direction of Mrs. James C. Dick. Mrs. Wilkinson having charge of the work. Mrs. J. D. Arnold conducts the singing, which is made an important and attractive feature of the sewing class, while a teacher has been secured for the physical culture drills, which are held during the intermission of half an hour in the middle of the afternoon session.

Flower Day in Allegheny.

The flower committee of the Allegheny summer playgrounds and vacation schools met yesterday morning in the basement of Allegheny Carnegie hall and arranged the flowers to be distributed at the nine playgrounds on the North Side. The supply of flowers was not as liberal as on Friday of last week, and consequently the bunches had to be made smaller than usual. Two thousand seven hundred and seventy-five bunches were distributed as follows: Sherman avenue, 125 bunches; Irwin avenue, 250; Third ward, 200; Fifth ward, 300; Seventh ward, 325; Eighth ward, 125; Ninth ward, 550; Tenth ward, 250; Thirteenth ward, 250. Mrs. John Colebery, chairman of the flower committee, directed the work. She was assisted by the following women: Mrs. Frederick Schumacker, Mrs. O. M. Sanford, Miss Ella Lang, Miss Aadie Rosborough, Mrs. E. W. Locke, Miss Margaretta Haslett, Miss Elizabeth Hay, Miss Sadie Van Asdale and Mrs. John Cowley. Mrs. Louis B. Whitney of Sewickley takes entire charge of the flowers for the Ninth ward.

The joint committee for Allegheny still needs money to carry out its plans. The season was half over yesterday, and will close on Friday, August 8. The average attendance so far has been about 3,000. Contributions of flowers should be sent to the North Diamond street entrance to the Carnegie hall basement, between the hours of 8 and 10:30 a. m., Fridays. Contributions of money should be sent to Mrs. Edward A. Jones, treasurer, 1814 Franklin street, Allegheny, Pa., and all communications to Mrs. Robert J. Cleland or Mrs. John Cowley, 620 Marburg street, Allegheny, Pa.

Miss Alice McGowan has been in charge, and yesterday was assisted in receiving the visitors by Mrs. DeWitt B. Nettleton, Mrs. Elizabeth McKown, Mrs. Philip P. Knapp, Mrs. Samuel Rickey, Mrs. Pittman, Miss Marie Nevin and Miss Richardson.

Doings at Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, July 21.—(Special.)—Bathers appreciated a rise of several degrees in the temperature of the surf today, following a change in the wind sufficient to carry the warm surface water within reach of even the timid ones, whose daily bath is hardly more than a wade.

The crowd along the boardwalk and strand increased with the arrival of the over-Sunday men folk, who cut business a day earlier to get relief from the oppressive city heat.

Sporting visitors are interested in the regatta of the "Cricket Fleet," small craft but speedy, due to take place tomorrow for a challenge medal given by a coterie of visiting yachtsmen. The course will lay over both bay and ocean and will furnish a pretty sight for the strollers.

Atlantic City's new postoffice will be formally turned over to the postmaster tomorrow with appropriate ceremonies, but so far as is known without the presence of any visiting dignitaries, who approved of the building while on a visit here several weeks ago.

Councilman Blaine McCormick of Altoona was on the boardwalk today with a party of Western Pennsylvania friends. He is here for a vacation visit of several days. Mrs. Mathilda Wehrle and Mrs. George Wehrle of Pittsburgh are here together, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Jones of Allegheny arrived yesterday for a short visit. Mr. and Mrs. John Hawkins, Miss Emily Marie Hawkins and William Scott Hawkins make up a Pittsburgh family party at the Albemarle. Other visitors from Pittsburgh registered today were:

Colwyn—T. H. D. Rankin, J. E. Dougherty, L. H. Waife and family.

HAS HIS OWN LIGHT PLANT.

Theodore N. Barnsdall Makes Some Important Improvements at His Handsome East End Residence.

Theodore N. Barnsdall, who has been making extensive improvements at his residence, Negley and Wellsley avenues, has closed a contract for an electric lighting plant to be used to light his residence and grounds. Also, one of the generating units will be used to charge his electric vehicles.

The contract for the lighting plant was given to the National Engineering Company of Bradford, Pa., and consists of two direct connected gas engine units and a 400-ampere hour battery. This kind of a plant gives continuous service by operating the engines only a few hours daily.

In the plot of the nine acres comprising the grounds which surround the Barnsdall residence and stables is a glen, and there Mr. Barnsdall has three beautiful lakes with waterfalls connecting them. COLLUSIVE BIDS ARE HIT HARD

Court Refuses to Sustain Such a Contract as Against Public Policy.

SQUARE DEALING UPHELD

Collusive bidding is given a hard hit in the United States courts in an opinion by Judge Buffington, who declares that it is as illegal and as much against public policy when only private individuals are concerned as it is when a public corporation is interested. This is the first time that position has been assumed by an American court.

The opinion was filed in the case of the Pittsburgh Dredging and Construction Company against the Monongahela and Western Dredging Company, on a motion for judgment on questions reserved. The court says the facts established are these: In June, 1904, the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company was required by the United States engineer to remove a large body of slag from the Monongahela river shore. The steel company asked bids from the plaintiff and defendant companies. These companies entered into a written contract whereby the defendant was to bid $1.60 and the plaintiff $1.50 per cubic yard for the dredging required, and whichever party received the contract each was to have one-half the work. Bids were made accordingly, the plaintiff's being $4,500 to $5,000 the highest. The defendant alleges these bids were rejected, the requirements changed, and it thereupon put in a bid for $1.25; it contended the bid was different from that contemplated in the contract. The jury found that the bid and the work awarded were embraced by the contract. The steel company knew nothing of the contract until the work was finished.

Conspiracy Was Charged.

On the trial a verdict was given for the plaintiff in $3,499.50, subject to two questions. One of these was that the agreement of June 16, 1904, was a conspiracy to defraud the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, was illegal and void, no action could be maintained thereon and the verdict must be for the defendant. The other was that the agreement named was a combination in restraint of trade, illegal and void.

Judge Buffington says it is clear the purpose of the contract was to mislead the steel company into the belief that there was competitive bidding, and by this collusive bidding secure the contract for the joint benefit of the dredging companies. The plaintiff being driven to the necessity of showing such a contract, the question arises, will the law lend its aid to enforce such an agreement? The answer turns on whether this is a legal contract. After quoting from authorities to show that the law will not support illegal contracts, the court takes up the question of the legality of this agreement and whether it is against public policy. Several opinions, in which collusive bidding on public works was treated, are cited to show that the law is opposed to such proceedings.

In the absence of any adjudged case binding on this court compelling it to restrict this wholesome principal of public policy to a narrow limit, Judge Buffington says he is unwilling to do so. He says: "I hold it manifest that a private letting requires the protective shield of the law equally, if not, indeed, more than the public one. If the government had asked for bids and these companies had made this agreement it is clear the law would not enforce rights based on such a contract. If the government required the steel company to move the slag, and that company is met with the same collusive contract, the court see no ground for alleging the combination was a whit different in purpose or effect in the two cases.

Government in Better Position.

If anything, the obligation to protect was greater in the private letting. The government was not under pressure to remove, and could reject any bid; the private letter was under stress to act. Put into plain language, the purpose of the contract sued on in this case was to make collusive bids to mislead the letter into a belief that there were competitive bids and induce an award of work on that false assumption. In conclusion Judge Buffington says:

"Viewed from the standpoint of morals, square dealing and commercial integrity, combinations for collusive, misleading biddings, wherever made, cannot be approved, yet to enforce rights based on an agreement to make such bids is to make the law an active agent to accomplish such deceptive purposes. In view of this result we think the law should adjudge such agreements void on the broad principal of public policy, and accordingly on the question reserved, viz.: That the agreement of June 16, 1904, constituted a conspiracy to defraud the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, and was illegal and void, and no action can be maintained thereon, and the verdict must be for the defendant,' we direct the entry of judgment for the defendant. This view renders needless a discussion of the other reserved points."

An opinion was handed down by Judge Buffington in the case of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company against the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company. The court refuses the motion for a new trial and also the motion to enter judgment for the defendant. The clerk is directed to enter judgment in favor of the plaintiff for the amount of the verdict, which was $15,000. The case grew out of a fire at plaintiff's plant on the South Side, which it claims was started by sparks coming from getting their hose across the tracks, the plant was badly damaged.

Other Decisions Rendered.

In the case of Albert G. Colvin, receiver in bankruptcy of Robert J. Steenson, doing business as Robert J. Steenson & Co., against the East End Mantel and Tile Company, A. J. Gould and the Twin City Tiling Company, a bill in equity was filed to restrain the defendants from disposal of certain property belonging to R. J. Steenson & Co., to which the defendants demurred on the grounds that the plaintiff had an adequate remedy at law. Judge Buffington overruled the demurrer and allowed the defendant 20 days to answer.

In the case of John F. Wilcox against the Semet-Solvay Company Judge Buffington discharged the rule for a new trial. The case was an action on a contract for salary. Wilcox had been employed by the Semet-Solvay Company for five years at an annual salary of $12,000 a year. Wilcox is alleged to have became paralyzed, and when he recovered they refused to fulfill their part of the contract. The court says: "We are of the opinion the case was one for the jury and that it would have been an error for the court to have withdrawn it and given binding instructions for the defendant. Seeing no error in the manner in which it was submitted, the rule for a new trial is discharged." The jury gave Wilcox a verdict for $37,000.

Three petitions in bankruptcy were filed. Lizzie A. Howard, doing business as the Howard-Brown Company of Corey, Pa., gives her assets as $3,624.32 and liabilities as $7,737.26. Christopher C. Wehrhauf, a butcher of Pittsburgh, files his assets as $11,085.79 and his liabilities as $11,944.86. Thomas P. Horan, a Pittsburgh clerk, gives his debts as $4,351.54 and his assets as $2,375.

STOCK MARKET HEAVY, CLOSING AT THE LOWEST

Railroad Issues Depressed by Crop Damage Reports—Break in Fire Proofing Issues and Rally in Pittsburgh Coal Preferred.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

With the exception of the first hour, the tone of the New York stock market was heavy. In the afternoon trading became very dull, except in a few specialties, and the market closed at or near the lowest prices of the day. The sales were 400,000 shares.

Wall street ignored the lower London quotations and the selling for foreign account at the opening, and the market scored fractional advances throughout the list. When the wheat market opened and prices began to jump on the reports of damage in the spring wheat belt, the stock market began to exhibit signs of heaviness, which became more pronounced as the day wore along. Northern Pacific, which would be most affected by any considerable damage to spring wheat, opened at 205 and broke to 201⅝. From this point there was a recovery to 204, followed by a break to 200⅛, the final sale, a loss of 3½ per cent. St. Paul, another spring wheat road, broke 2 per cent to 178½, and closed near the lowest. Atchison, another grainger road, was well supported during the early part of the day, but lost the gain and closed fractionally lower. Union Pacific declined to 127⅞ and closed at 128, and Southern Pacific declined to 66, a loss of ⅝ per cent.

One of the weakest features of the railroad list was Reading. The stock rallied to 105¼ during the morning session but broke to 102¼ late in the afternoon and closed at 102½, a net loss of 2⅜ per cent. The cause of the weakness was due to the report that the anthracite companies are planning to shut down their mines for the larger part of August. Heretofore the anthracite trade has not felt the effects of the depression prevailing in the bituminous coal trade and being better organized, prices have been well maintained. Within the past week, however, the anthracite companies have been experiencing a let-up in the demand and a curtailment of production is said to be the remedy that will be applied. Delaware & Hudson displayed some activity early in the session, but this later subsided. Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania closed ⅝ lower.

The U. S. Steel stocks held fairly steady during the greater part of the day, but in the final dealings the common declined to 34 and the preferred to 102, and both closed at the lowest. Republic Iron & Steel preferred was active and strong, touching 83½ and closing 1¼ per cent higher, being one of the few stocks showing a gain for the day. Amalgamated Copper advanced a point in the early dealings, but lost all the gain during the afternoon and closed at a decline of ⅝ per cent. U. S. Rubber closed ¾ per cent lower. National Biscuit was less active than for several days, but closed at a loss of 1¼ per cent. The cause of the weakness in this stock was revealed in the announcement that a prominent director had retired from the board and would operate a competitive plant.

Commodity markets were active and excited. Cotton closed slightly lower, but wheat made a strong advance and closed at the highest level. The three active options closed at an advance of 3 cents over the day before, making an advance of 8 cents from the low price of the September option this week.

Call loan rates remained easy and unchanged at 1¾ to 2 per cent. The preliminary estimates of the movements of currency during the week indicate a loss in today's bank statement of less than $1,000,000 cash.

Out of a total of 35,271 shares handled on the local stock exchange, nearly 30,000 shares consisted of Ohio Tonopah Mining at prices ranging from 37 to 41 cents a share. Of the remainder more than 400 shares Lustre Mining at 26¾ to 27, and 1,000 shares United Copper at 30¼ to 32, were handled. The feature of the industrial list was the weakness in National Fire Proofing. The common stock declined to 7¼ and the preferred broke to 30, the lowest prices of the year. Inasmuch as the quarterly dividend on the preferred stock was declared at the regular rate more than a week ago and is payable next Tuesday, the street was at a loss to account for the break in the stock. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was moderately active and firm rallying to 51 both here and in New York, and closing at 50, a net gain over the previous close of 1½ per cent. The upward movement originated in New York, where the stock was more active than for several days. Dealings in the common consisted of 200 shares at 12¾, an advance of ¾ per cent. The steel stocks was almost neglected, but closed steady to firm. Westinghouse Electric sold unchanged at 82½ and Union Switch & Signal at 81, the latter a loss of ¼. Independent Brewing preferred sold at 41 and the bonds advanced to 106½.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The recovery in Pittsburgh Coal preferred yesterday started in New York. It was probably due to the semi-official denial of rumors which were current in Wall street the day before. Before the opening of the market yesterday inquiries were received by a Fourth avenue house from its New York correspondents asking if there was any foundation for stories current there that the Pittsburgh Coal Company had not met its sinking fund obligations, or if it had failed to redeem the full quota of bonds required under the terms of the mortage. The Fourth avenue house obtained an official statement from the trustee of the mortgage and sinking funds stating that all obligations had been promptly met; that nearly a million bonds had been redeemed, and that the company had an excess of current assets over current liabilities of more than $4,000,000. This information was promptly transmitted to the New York inquirers, and its effect was seen in the rally in the stock. It is the opinion of the street that the short interest in the market is large, not only in Pittsburgh, but in Cleveland and New York, and that this interest will do its utmost to depress the price of the stock. When this short interest is covered it is thought the price of the stock will gradually sag, as there will be little incentive to buy for an investment until there is some definite knowledge as to when dividends will be resumed. On this subject opinion is divided, some traders expressing the view that dividends may be resumed within a year, while others contend that it may be three years.

The decline in National Fireproofing common was on the marketing of 1,000 shares by Martin, who sold 600 shares at 7¾ and 400 shares at 7½. Speer Brothers were the buyers. The trading in the preferred was scattered and was generally in small amounts. The price broke to 30, the low point of the year, but recovered to 30¾. The only cause assigned for the weakness was lack of confidence on the part of holders, owing to the relatively low price of the stock and the absence of any support. The public has been educated to watch the ticker for unfavorable developments, and when it sees stock selling on a basis that nets 10 per cent and yet destitute of friends apprehensions are naturally aroused.

The dealings in Ohio Tonopah were in large blocks and confined to a few brokers. Hooker sold 7,500 shares and Waltmg, Stephenson & Co. sold 5,000 shares. Harbour, Sproul & Co. and Hill & Co. were large buyers. The buying in United Copper to 30¾ was on profit-taking. The rally to 31½ bid at the close was on buying by Robert C. Hall, who was instrumental in securing the listing of the stock on the local exchange.

The sale of 100 shares Westinghouse Electric at 82½ was the first transaction in the stock this week on the local board, and the price was unchanged from the last previous sale.

Consolidated Ice preferred sold at 39, a decline of ¼. The earnings of this company must be at the maximum, since weather conditions have been unusually favorable for its business.

C. B. McDonald, whose operations on the New York stock exchange during the past few weeks have been of a magnitude to attract general attention in Wall street, sent the following message over Robinson Brothers' wires yesterday afternoon: "I think I understand why the market has not responded to the good news of the past fortnight, such as increased dividends, growing traffic, expansion in general business, lower money rates and the good crop reports. The inactivity of the market has disheartened a good many bulls, has brought out a good many stocks and has increased the short interest. My opinion is that the insurance situation has been the cause of it all. The Equitable scandal, which from day to day has developed new phases reflecting upon the integrity of men who stand high in the financial world, has caused the general public to suspect every insurance company. The other insurance companies, seeing and understanding the situation, have been clearing house, preparing for a government investigation. It is true that the mutual and the New York Life have inserted and settled a special investigating committee to go through their business affairs, and the committees have been at work for a week. Now comes the investigation by the state committee. Meantime everything is being adjusted as far as possible in anticipation of what the public will demand of them. What the immediate effect of this business is to depress prices and influence the large interests in the market to discourage speculation at this time, the eventual effect of all this cannot be otherwise than beneficial for values throughout the country. And I believe there will be a great revision of feeling after these committees get earnestly at work, and the stock market will respond to the exceptionally fine conditions which prevail throughout the United States today. People are not going to be told when it is going to start, and, therefore, one should never be influenced in their line of stocks. But come it will, and to a degree which few people realize."

During the years 1902 and 1904 more than $200,000,000 of railroad mortgages and other bonded obligations, among the latter many collateral trusts of comparatively recent issue, will reach maturity. These bonds bear interest at various rates from 4½ per cent to 7½ per cent, with the individual outstanding amounts ranging from $1,000,000 to $20,000,000. Some are first mortgages and others are underlying liens, and nearly all are considered by conservative investors as good financial standing.

The United Merchants' Realty and Improvement Company was incorporated at Albany, N. Y., this week, with an authorized capital of $100,000. It is formed to hold and handle real estate now leased or owned, of the United Clear Stores Company. All the real estate belonging to the latter will be transferred by sale to the new concern.

Reports of further large purchases of pig iron gave a firm tone to the steel and iron industrials, but this was most effective in the minor members of the group, the United States Steel stocks hanging suspended and neglected. A Philadelphia dispatch said: "Not only has a demand developed for sales of pig iron been noted in this market this week, but the same conditions are reported from Chicago, Cleveland and Cincinnati. It is reported that during the week sales of 50,000 tons of pig iron were recorded in Chicago, with a like amount in Cleveland and 60,000 tons in Cincinnati."

Estimates of the bank statement were somewhat confused. Actual movements of currency promised a small change in the cash item, the large absorption by the sub-treasury being practically offset by receipts from the interior. But the payments to the sub-treasury coming due this week would count for their full effect in the daily averages. The large placing of foreign funds during the week would operate to relieve the demand upon the New York loan account. The offerings of foreign funds here came to a pause yesterday and the foreign exchange market showed a recovering tendency in consequence.

LONG LEASE FOR CITY CORNER

Harry Davis Takes Pennsylvania Ticket Building for 20 Years at $25,000 a Year.

BIG OFFER IN WOOD STREET

Through the office of the Samuel W. Black Company, Harry Davis has leased the four-story building at Fifth avenue and Smithfield streets, now occupied by the Pennsylvania railroad ticket offices, for a period of 20 years. The rental will be $25,000 a year, making a new high record for downtown rentals and making the lease, which involves $500,000, the largest with one or two exceptions ever made for business property in Pittsburgh. Mr. Davis will get possession of the building, which is 20x69 feet, next April. All sorts of rumors were in circulation yesterday when it became known that he had leased it, but he declined to discuss his plans in any way. That some-one besides the railroad company would take the building next spring has been the general opinion of brokers for a year or more, and various reports have been circulated of late as to the probable tenant.

In April, 1904, Davis leased from the Howard estate the Howard block of seven stores next to Diamond street. The Howard lease was for a term of 20 years and the rent is $30,000 a year. When the lease was made it was reported that Mr. Davis got hold of the property to prevent Keith, the theatrical manager, gaining an entrance in Smithfield street and erecting a theater on the Marshall lot in the rear. During the last 16 months most of the store rooms have been leased or released, but all these leases are for a short term, and it was reported yesterday that they could all be canceled next April.

Probably Means a Skyscraper.

The fact that one man has gained control of the most of the block from Fifth avenue to Diamond street for such a long period naturally gives rise to the assumption that the old four-story buildings on the lots will be torn down and a skyscraper erected. It is learned from sources that Mr. Davis has this idea well formulated, but no details could be learned yesterday concerning the project. At present some minor repairs are being made to several of the store buildings to fit them for new tenants. The site has frequently been mentioned for a hotel or office building, with stores on the first floor. Such a building would be an immense advantage to the downtown district, as the buildings now on the lot have not been profitable either for landlords or tenants for some time owing to the fact that the upper floors are not considered desirable for modern business wants.

A very interesting report that was in circulation yesterday in reliable quarters was that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has made an offer of $1,000,000 for the Diener block at Fifth avenue and Wood street. This property measures 48 feet in Wood street and 60 feet in Fifth avenue, and is improved with a six-story brick building. This would make the price $547 a square foot, which would ret really gossips talking again as to the possibilities of real estate values in Pittsburgh. Should the Pennsylvania Railroad Company secure this building the move would be very significant whether the present building should be replaced by a skyscraper or allowed to stand.

Good Deal Near the Tunnel.

Robert T. Paine, Jr., has secured from John Lohman 580x382 feet of ground on the south side of Sceane avenue, near Ruth street. Thirty-second ward, for $22,230. The land was recently acquired from the James M. Bailey estate, and will be used as an addition to the Grandview plan of Wood, Harmon & Co. The plot includes 6.84 acres and is sold subject to the right of the Pittsburgh Coal Company to maintain and operate a tunnel for the transportation of coal.

Rumors of large deals pending are plenty in spite of the few sales that are announced. One deal for a Water street property worth at least $100,000 is likely to be closed in a few days. Two deals for outer Penn avenue property have been articled for, but are being kept under cover until the delivery of the deeds. A Wood street transaction that is of unusual interest from the development standpoint are likely to follow is being shaped up and looks very favorable for an early closing. The same is true of a six-figure deal in Liberty avenue, which will show a good increase in prices when it is announced.

More Houses for West Pittsburgh.

John P. Rush, who has been for the last five years one of the most successful home builders in Greater Pittsburgh, has let the contract for 15 more dwellings to be built on the West Pittsburgh plan in Chartiers township. Miller Brothers of West Pittsburgh will build eight of the houses in Luray and Felix streets and Norwood avenue. The remaining seven will be built by Scott Brothers of Crafton in Norwood avenue and Mt. Clair street. The houses will be six-room frame dwellings with finished attic and bath and will cost $2,300 each. Such dwellings in this neighborhood rent for about $26 a month. The West Pittsburgh plan was laid out only six or seven years ago, but there are now over 200 houses on the property.

Squirrel Hill will get another fine house as the result of a deal made yesterday by John E. Kane, who sold for L. F. and O. H. Demmler 60x160 feet, in Shady avenue, near Wilkins avenue. Twenty-second ward. For $5,000. The purchaser, whose name is withheld, will improve the site at once with an $18,000 residence.

FLOUR TAKES FIRMER TONE FROM WHEAT MOVE

Sensational Advance in Speculative Prices Causes Product to Strengthen Greatly.

The sensational rise in speculative wheat has caused a decided stiffening in the flour market and the mills advanced the price 10c yesterday. A similar advance is looked for locally today or by Monday. The wire cuts say, however, that it is but temporary and the reports of rusty crops are only circulated for the effect they may have on the wheat market. Inferior wheat is being pushed off and there is an abundance of first-class milling grain held back. This, they say, will work the market the other way when the right time comes. In the meantime prices are stronger than it has been for weeks, but there is little doing. Buyers refuse to get in. Sugar is in much the same condition.

Green goods and produce were firm yesterday, with no changes in quotations and a tremendous amount of business being handled. Outgoing cars were busy yesterday and several loads of stuff were shipped to nearby points. The up-river boats were loaded to the guards with everything in the produce lines destined for points along the river.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts yesterday: Baltimore & Pennsylvania lines, 7 cars hay, 1 car oats, 4 cars corn, 2 cars straw, 2 cars feed; Baltimore & Ohio, 4 cars hay; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car hay, 3 cars oats.

Yellow shelled and high mixed corn moved up sharply yesterday in sympathy with the movement in the wheat. The demand was heavy and receipts were readily taken. Hay is doing a good business and all that is coming in is being readily bid in. Millfeed is still slow.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Santa Ysabel Mining and Milling Company stockholders voted to authorize privilege of purchasing at 15 cents per share 4,000,000 shares of the company's stock which were not taken under the reorganization agreement. The stock is offered to stockholders pro rata. The right to subscribe expires August 15.

George Vaughn of London, Ohio, president and general manager of the Golden Fleece mines in the Mason district, 12 miles north of Sellita, arrived at the mine this week for the purpose of beginning development work on that property. He has purchased a steam hoist and other necessary machinery and will equip the mine at once. The mine was located three years ago by Starr Jackson, a well-known Denver & Rio Grande engineer. He opened a good lead of pay mineral, but did not have sufficient capital to develop the property. The present company was induced to take hold of the property through his efforts.

A Leadville dispatch says: Work has been started cutting the station at the bottom of the Penrose shaft for the accommodation of the compound pumps. When this is finished and the first compound put in, another station, 11x16 and 60 feet long, will be cut to accommodate the other two. The pumps will be placed in tandem fashion and will have a capacity of 5,000 gallons per minute. When they are in place and working the water question in the downtown section will be settled. The controlling of the water in the Penrose has cost the company fully $200,000, but the money has been well spent, as it has unwatered all of the properties in the downtown section, as well as on Rock Hill. When the stations are completed, drifting toward the Colorado will start and be driven vigorously.

The big mill of the Pittsburgh & Boston Gold Mining Company will be shipped by rail to Cheyenne, Mexico, and taken to the mines of the company on September 1. Superintendent Casey advises President Conaway that the cross-cut from the bottom of shaft No. 1 into the vein shows the ore body 40 feet in width at that point. Drifting is in progress on the vein to determine the length of the chute on the lower level and a station will be cut. The ore encountered at the mine while the mill is being installed. The management intends keeping several years' ore supply ahead of milling operations and to increase the capacity of the mill as fast as development at the mines will warrant.

Judge Goff Gets Good Well on His Rock Camp Run farm

Reports from the lower southwest fields show that all of the late wells completed or drilling in the sand are showing for light production. On Rock Camp run, Hardy district, Harrison county, Judge Nathan Goff's No. 1 on his own farm is good for 10 barrels a day. It has now drilled through the Gordon. Judge Goff is a large land owner and the farm on which this well is located is not connected with the one at Wolf Summit, on which the drilled more than 20 wells. On Big Rock Camp run the judge owns a farm or tract of more than 1,200 acres and a few years ago leased three tanks. Two of these wells drilled by Judge and are other dry. The wells drilled by Judge were all numbered consecutively, irrespective of their location, so that the one just completed is No. 20. No. 20 is 700 feet northwest of the new well and when first completed was a 20-barrel producer. There is room for a pool of some dimensions in that locality and it is possible that a connection will be made developed between the old Grave run pool and the Wallace field to the northwest. At the time of the Wallace excitement Judge Goff built a rig for a test on another of his farms about a mile north of the new producer, on Meletzre Fork, but the well was never drilled. This location is now on a range which the producers on Rock Camp run and the Wallace field and it would be interesting if drilled down to the Gordon.

On Dog run, Ten Mile district, Harrison county, the Haley Oil Company has drilled its test on the Thomas Williams farm through the Gordon and will not have a pay for producer unless a shot helps. In the same district the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the A. T. Davis farm through the strav and the hole has filled up 100 feet with fluid. In the Smithfield district, Westmoreland county, the North Penn has drilled its No. 2 on the Samuel Cunningham farm into the Big Injun 127 feet and has a very light show of oil. Unless it gets another pay it will not make a paying producer. North of the Garner district, in Marshall county, the same company has given up its No. 1 on the E. M. Van Scoy farm and will move to the Gobbin and if responded by producing 120 barrels the amazing 18 hours. In the Yellow Creek district, Calhoun county, the South Penn has drilled its No. 5 on the Rose L. Norman farm through the Berea grit and will have a 50 or 75-barrel producer. The same company's No. 11 on the H. I. Jackson farm is now drilling up at 1,200 barrels a day.

Development work on the Ohio side is not attended by any large strikes that give promise of furnishing new pools. At times a strike is made that holds out inducements for more energetic development work in the immediate vicinity, but it does not follow that anything better than a small pumper will be struck. East of Marietta, Washington county, the Ohio Seaboard has put down a test on the Jeffers farm. When the first test on this farm was drilled a few weeks ago it started at 200 barrels a day and later on fairly well and is still a good producer. No. 2 on the same farm was started at once and was drilled into the Gordon yesterday and will not be good for more than five barrels a day. This location is not much if any better than No. 1. In the same district Wagner Bros. & Co. have completed a second test on the John Wagner farm and have a duster.

Boardman of Woodsfield, Monroe county, the Tropical Drilling Company and others have drilled their No. 2 in the Barnes & Thomas farm, through the Keener sand and have a show for a 15-barrel pumper. In the Lewis district, in the same county, Smith & Davidson have completed their test on the Jesse Hogue farm and have a 20-barrel pumper in the Keener.

Near Bridgewood, Allegheny county, Magraw & Co. have drilled their No. 1 on the Magraw heirs' farm through the fourth sand and have a fair gusher. Oil was developed in the fourth or upper formations.

SECOND DEGREE FOR ITALIAN BOY

Jury Stays Out All Night Before It Arrives at a Verdict in Murder Case.

RIGHT OF WAY STILL GOOD

Second degree was the verdict in the case in which Joseph Carmecini, the Italian boy, whose relatives and friends testified he was not yet 14 years old, was charged with stabbing to death Guiseppi Folo, a fellow-countryman, on Nansen street, Hazelwood, November 19. Carmecini was tried Thursday and the jury remained out all night, returning a verdict at 10:40 o'clock yesterday morning.

Carmecini took the verdict coolly and was remanded to jail. Lenard Godull, charged with being an accessory to Folo's murder, was on the trial list for yesterday, but the case went over until the September term.

David Walker, convicted of embezzlement, was fined $10 and costs and sentenced 10 days to jail.

The bill in equity filed by the borough of East Pittsburgh against the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company was dismissed at the cost of the borough. The company was given the right-of-way in October, 1903, and was to give free telephones for the borough and permit police and fire wires to be strung on its poles. The borough claimed that the company had not complied with the ordinance, and in the year given to install a service had but one subscriber, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. Judge Young decides that the company has established a service.

Many Divorce Suits Entered.

These libels in divorce were filed: Anna D. Lyons vs. Holly Lyons, cruelty and bigamy; Bertha Stadlander vs. William J. Stadlander, desertion and bigamy; Charles D. Johnston vs. Catherine Anna Johnston, infidelity; Mary L. Swank vs. Lyman O. Swank, desertion; Lena Thompson vs. Maurice Thompson, desertion; Ellen I. Davis vs. William W. Davis, cruel and barbarous treatment; Jesse D. Adams vs. Jennie Adams, desertion; Alice Miller vs. James Miller, desertion; Louise F. H. Dahlinger vs. Henry Dahlinger, desertion; Martha J. Clark vs. James F. Clark, desertion.

The master in the partition proceedings of Katherine B. Naylor vs. Margaret Phillips and others filed his report, saying the property, which was left by John Schmid, Sr., of Esplen, could not be well divided, but that if the division he makes is not acceptable he recommends the sale of the property, which is valued at $17,245.

REVISE ROUTING OVER TERMINALS

Pennsylvania Officers Arrange for Handling Heavy Interchange Here This Fall.

TRAFFIC GROWS 20 PER CENT

One of the most important conferences on transportation matters in this city in recent years was held yesterday in the committee room of the Union station by General Superintendent of Freight Transportation A. B. Starr of the Pennsylvania lines west; Superintendent of Freight Transportation R. M. Patterson of the Pennsylvania railroad; General Agent H. A. Jaggard of the Pennsylvania system's Pittsburgh terminals and representatives of the six Pennsylvania system divisions whose terminals are here. The conference had to do with the revision of the routing sheet for freight, which sheet had not been revised since about five years ago. Mr. Starr presided at the conference.

One of the important points brought out was that the daily interchange movement between divisions over the Pittsburgh terminals now average 5,700 cars a day. This is an increase of more than 20 per cent over the interchange of 1902, when the bad freight congestion came in Pittsburgh. Today there is not a trace of congestion at any one point over the 100-mile terminal system of the Pennsylvania, and the changes effected yesterday will bring about a still more ready and effectual movement so that a tie-up will not come when the heavier fall movement of tonnage ensues. The conference makes the routing of through and local freight over the Pittsburgh terminals effect the best use of the new links, yards and through movement tracks built here in the past few years.

The links, yards and through track facilities include 18 important items in the improvements of the Pennsylvania in the immediate Pittsburgh terminal district since 1902. These are: Double-tracking of the Port Perry branch, construction of the Brinton loop, four-tracking of the Monongahela division from Thomson to the Panhandle bridge, building of new elevated yard at South Eighteenth street, the new Wilkinsburg yard (formerly Brushton), construction of the Brilliant branch, connecting the main line and the West Penn and River divisions; the new Coleman yard, Herrs Island stock yards, remodeling of the passenger yard from Thirty-third to Twentieth street, separation of passenger and freight traffic on the Ft. Wayne bridge by building a double-deck, four-track structure; the West Penn division connection with the Ft. Wayne elevated line in Allegheny, construction of the east leg of the "Y" for the Ohio connecting line, separation of traffic moving over the Ohio connecting line at Verner from the eastbound and westbound traffic on the Ft. Wayne by the construction of a new elevated line and incline, reconstruction of the Panhandle bridge and building of Scully yard and a connection with the Ohio connecting line. In addition to these line improvements Conway yards have been enlarged about 40 per cent, and the yards at Pitcairn are now being revised and rebuilt so as to give greatly increased facilities for handling westbound freight movements.

"The revised routing is practically as recommended for each division by the several superintendents," said Mr. Jaggard in discussing yesterday's conference. "There were some changes from the recommendations to make the whole plan work more harmonious, and we believe now that we have a complete plan of routing freight that will not permit of a tie-up. There is not a trace of congestion anywhere, nor do we expect any. The new routing will better conditions. The numerous improvements made in the terminals for handling freight insure by many times a more ready interchange of local and through trains or cars."

New B. & O. and Wabash Time Cards.

Owing to the opening of the new Baltimore & Ohio main line between Youngstown and Newton Falls tomorrow, a passenger service and a change of time will be made in the service into and out of Pittsburgh from and to the west. Almost a half hour will be clipped from the running time of the present schedules. Trains Nos. 14 and 6 will arrive in Pittsburgh at 12:40 p. m. and 7:15 a. m., respectively. Train No. 15 will leave Pittsburgh at 4:50 p. m., instead of 4:30 as now. Train No. 16 will leave Cleveland at 2 p. m. and arrive in Pittsburgh at 8:55 p. m. Trains Nos. 7 and 8 will be extended from Akron eastward to Youngstown.

By reason of the Wabash having extended its double track on the line between Pittsburgh and Rook and at other points on the line, a change of schedule will be made tomorrow. Train No. 6 from Chicago will arrive here at 7:20, instead of at 8:25 a. m., as now. The evening train to Wheeling will leave at 5:30 o'clock instead of 5 o'clock. The evening train from Wheeling will arrive here at 7:50 o'clock, week days, instead of 8:30, the Sunday service remaining as at present. Train No. 27 will leave Pittsburgh at 10:30 a. m. and will run to Pryor.

Wabash Clairton Line Arranged.

At a conference in New York Thursday agreements were made between the Wabash system and the United States Steel Corporation for the proposed connecting line between the steel plants at Clairton and the West Side Belt railroad. The Wabash interests were represented by E. A. Delano and E. T. Jeffery, and the United States Steel Corporation and Carnegie Steel Company by E. H. Gary and J. H. Reed. The terms of the agreement practically are that the steel corporation shall secure the right of way and build a connection from Clairton to the West Side Belt line at the north edge of the borough. The Wabash is to pay 5 per cent interest on the right of way and cost of construction, the property to remain in possession of the steel corporation. The final agreement for the Carnegie Steel Company-West Side Belt line connection is about the same as formerly fixed upon—that the steel company will build half of the line and the Wabash the remainder. It is expected that the latter line will be ready for operation by January 1, 1906.

Inspection of Valley Division.

The inspection of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania railroad by General Manager W. W. Atterbury and other general and division officers was for the purpose of viewing the improvements already made and not for any contemplated changes other than in maintenance and operating. An inspection was made of the Verona shops and the new work of double-tracking from Rimerton to Phillipston, a distance of seven miles, was gone over. The grading on this line is expected to be completed by September 10, when the track-laying will be begun. The grading from Rimerton to Red Bank is being done by the Millard & McGraw Construction Company, and that from Red Bank to Phillipston by C. A. Sims & Co. The grading is entirely on the River division. Accompanying Mr. Atterbury were Superintendent of Telegraph D. C. Stewart and Engineer Maintenance of Way L. R. Zollinger of Philadelphia, General Superintendent of Motive Power G. W. Globs of Altoona and General Superintendent R. L. O'Donnel, Principal Assistant Engineer C. P. McCarthy and Superintendent of Motive Power R. M. Carson of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division at Buffalo. Superintendent C. T. Dabney, Assistant Engineer J. R. McGraw, Trainmaster J. F. Richards and General Agent H. A. Jaggard of Pittsburgh accompanied the party over the River and Low Grade divisions.

Railroad Notes.

It is reported that the New York, New Haven & Hartford road is contemplating the electrification of its New York division.

The friends of C. E. Mercer, the Panhandle dispatcher, say that he has a new plan for removing the hump in Pittsburgh and that he intends to lay it before the city authorities.

The annual Niagara Falls excursion of the Wheeling & Lake Erie on Wednesday was exceptionally well patronized.

M. A. Worthington, vice president of the Wabash lines, has gone to Chicago. President E. A. Delano is delayed in his visit to Pittsburgh, but will probably reach here next week.

Robert L. Fryer of Buffalo has been elected a director of the Western New York & Pennsylvania Railroad Company to succeed the late Pascal P. Pratt.

D. O. Ives, the new traffic manager of the Wabash system, will have supervision of both freight and passenger business.

Engineman Isaac Cable of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh division has returned to his engine after a month's illness.

W. J. Merrick has just completed his tour of the Pittsburgh division of the Panhandle and its branches in his official capacity as a member of the advisory committee of the relief department and has resumed his runs on the through passenger trains between here and Columbus.

R. E. McCarty, general superintendent of the Southwest system of the Pennsylvania lines west, accompanied by his family, is spending his vacation at Petoskey, Mich.

Among the out-of-town railroad men in the city were: Superintendent H. W. McMaster of the Wabash lines east of Toledo, of Canton; Assistant General Freight Agent M. R. Maxwell of the Lake Erie & Western at Indianapolis, Division Freight Agent J. A. Coakley of the American Steel and Wire Company at Cleveland, and Traveling Passenger Agent John R. McCord of the Great Central route at Toledo.

By an agreement of counsel the hearing in the injunction proceedings of the Philadelphia Company against the Wabash Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company, set for today, is postponed until further order of court. Meanwhile the temporary injunction restraining the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff's gas mains, conduits and wires in Carson street, in building the Wabash extension, holds.
